Plane Crash Takes 44 Lives

Zelnick Is Witness In TaxFixCase

Tells How Two Tried to Escape Prosecution —Says Pinckney Saw Dan O'Connell

New York, Oct. 15 (AP)—The story of how two men, who admittedly helped "fix" income tax cases, tried to avoid federal prosecution was related yesterday at the trial of five former upstate tax agents charged with conspiring to defraud the government.

Alleged attempts to "fix" the case came out yesterday in testimony of former federal tax agent Ernest Zelnick, who, along with accountant H. Harold Miller of Catskill, is listed as a co-conspirator in the case.

Defendants are Maurice F. O'Brien, former head of the Troy office of the Internal Revenue Bureau, and four of his agents. They are charged with conspiring to extort money from taxpayers.

Zelnick told the court that he was offered a bribe to fix a tax case for Oppenheimer Brothers, Inc., a Kingston jewelry firm, when he still was a new agent in the Troy office. He said he consulted O'Brien, his boss, and was told to "go through with it." He said O'Brien received part of the bribe.

Checking on Activities

Zelnick said he learned that federal agents were checking into his activities and those of Miller. The two went to O'Brien's apartment in Albany and threatened to expose the whole tax-fixing setup unless they were protected, Zelnick said.

The two men also went to see Murray Talanker, an Albany certified public accountant, a former revenue agent, and a defendant.

Zelnick said Talanker told them he would get "the best man that could fix the case" and produced a man identified as Andrew Pinckney, assistant district attorney of Albany county.

Pinckney assured the two troubled tax men that "everything would be fixed," Zelnick said.

The next night, Zelnick said, he attended a conference in Albany's DeWitt Clinton Hotel with Miller, O'Brien and Pinckney.

Zelnick said Pinckney reported having seen a Dan O'Connell about the case and that O'Connell "wanted to know who would be affected."

O'Connell was not identified in court. (The Democratic chairman of Albany county for many years has been Daniel P. O'Connell.)

Resigned in September

At Albany, District Attorney Julian B. Erway said Andrew M. Pinckney had resigned as an assistant district attorney in mid-September. Erway, reached at his home last night, said he could not recall the exact date.

The district attorney said Pinckney had resigned voluntarily to "devote his full time to outside work."

Neither Pinckney or county Democratic Chairman O'Connell could be reached for comment.

Zelnick said Miller began to list those involved in the case and named "Sturr, of the collector's office" and O'Brien. Sturr was not identified further.

(There was a Walter R. Sturr, who was chief of the Internal

Three Nassau Figures Face Quiz on Racing

Lent, De Koning and Robbins Will Face Counsel

New York, Oct. 15 (AP)—Three Nassau county figures, including a judge and a union leader, will be questioned today by counsel for Gov. Thomas E. Dewey's special commission investigating harness racing operations.

They are County Judge Norman F. Lent; county labor "boss" William DeKoning, Sr., and Marvin Robbins, reputed owner of Roosevelt Statistics, a racing publication. Robbins reportedly farmed out Roosevelt Raceway's program printing contract.

They will be interviewed by George Trosk, a member of the commission and its counsel, at Trosk's office.

Scheduled to Appear

De Koning was scheduled to appear in the early afternoon, Robbins in mid-afternoon and Lent at 5 p. m.

Lent has acknowledged that he once was associated with De Koning in printing Roosevelt Raceway programs. De Koning has been indicted on a charge of extorting money from Raceway workers.

De Koning and Robbins were served with subpoenas. Lent earlier had agreed to appear voluntarily.

"He will be in voluntarily," the commission counsel said: "It was not necessary to serve a subpoena

Churchill Awarded Literature Prize By Nobel Judges

Historical Writings Basis for Decision—Other Winners Are Due in November

Stockholm, Sweden, Oct. 15 (AP)—Prime Minister Sir Winston Churchill was today awarded the 1953 Nobel Literature Prize for his brilliant historical writings.

The famed British war leader thus became the first maker of history to received a Nobel Prize for reporting it.

The 175,292-crown ($33,840) award was announced by the Swedish Acadamy after a brief formal session this afternoon.

The decision was clearly the most unusual ever taken by the academy, which has been distributing the literary Nobel Prizes since the turn of the century.

Score of Prizes

Statesmen, including premiers and foreign ministers, have been awarded nearly a score of Nobel Peace Prizes, which are distributed by the Nobel Committee of the Norwegian Parliament. But the British premier is the first statesman ever to receive the literary prize Churchill was chosen winner from a field of 25 candidates, including American writers Ernest Hemingway and Carl Sandburg, British novelist Graham Greene, Italian Alberto Moravia and France's Albert Camus.

When the Swedish Academy met this afternoon, it was still officially presumed that Churchill was unaware of the honor coming to him. For this reason the Swedish Foreign Office had not yet been able to sound him out on whether he could come to Sweden for the first time in order to receive his award personally from King Gustav Adolf.

Must Give Lecture

The rules require a Nobel Prize winner must deliver a Nobel lecture in public within six months of Dec. 10, the date on which the award is presented.

Four other prizes of the same amount, for achievement in physics, medicine and physiology, chemistry and peace, are due to be announced later, probably in late November.

The awards are made from a

Balch Asks Probe Of Prison; Raps Dewey on Tracks

Says Governor Takes Off Heat From Harness Scandal, Puts It Under Rug

Amsterdam, Oct. 15 (AP)—Richard H. Balch, Democratic state chairman, wants next month's special legislative session to order a sweeping probe of the state's prisons.

Balch based his demand on what he termed "the revelation that extortionist Joey Fay ran an empire from his Sing Sing cell and that his favor was sought by Republican political leaders, ambitious contractors and a horde of others."

That, the Utican told a Democratic rally last night, "proves that there is something radically wrong with the administration of our prison system under (Gov.) Dewey."

Dewey has called the session for Nov. 17 and has asked the Legislature to take up reapportionment of Senate and Assembly Districts and the Senate to consider the case of Acting Lt. Gov. Arthur H. Wicks.

Subjects Limited

The state constitution limits a special session to the subjects referred to it by the governor.

Wicks has refused Dewey's request that he resign his Senate leadership because of his prison visits to Fay but has said he will let the Senate "pass upon my fitness."

Balch also scored Dewey for what he called the governor's "method of taking the heat off" recent harness racing track scandals.

He said Dewey's appointment of a commission to probe the harness racing industry was prompted by the theory that "you study it to death and hope that as the months go by public indignation will cool off."

Balch predicted the governor

Nine Men Seized In Newburgh Raid

Newburgh, Oct. 15 (AP)—Nine local men were held in $1,000 bail each today for grand jury action following a raid on an alleged bookmaking establishment.

District Attorney Abraham Isseks led state troopers and local police on the raid yesterday afternoon at 86 Lake street. Isseks said $6,000 cash and bookmaking equipment were confiscated.

William Meyers was held on a charge of operating a gaming room, and the other eight for bookmaking.

Only 10 Men Seek to Be Sent Back

Five Hundred Are Seen by Reds in Opening Session — Will Hold Ceremony

Panmunjom, Oct. 15 (AP)—Balking Chinese war prisoners today rejected overwhelmingly the first Communist attempts to coax them home.

Of 500 Chinese who met Red interviewers in an opening session, only 10 requested repatriation to Red China, said the Neutral Nations Repatriation Commission (NNRC).

The long-delayed interviews began only after Indian custodian troops pried the wildly demonstrating Chinese from their compounds with threats of force.

After defying two Indian ultimatums, the first 200 rock-throwing, bugle-blowing anti-Red Chinese finally submitted to Communist interviews. The explanations began at 3:12 p. m. (1:12 a. m. EST), more than seven hours behind today's schedule.

Delayed by Wrangling

They originally were to have started Sept. 26 but were delayed by wrangling over facilities.

An Indian spokesman said the 10 Chinese would be returned to the Reds in a ceremony Thursday night at Panmunjom.

He said Communist persuasion teams will talk to 1,000 prisoners Friday, including at least 500 North Koreans.

The atmosphere was charged with tension in the opening of this vital psychological phase of the armistic, but there was no violence.

Indian guards had to prevent the first prisoner from slipping away as he was taken before the interviewer.

A UN interpreter said the Reds told the POW: "You must go back to your home, to your family."

Refuses to Face Interviewer

Refusing to face the interviewer, the prisoner answered, "no, I want to go to Formosa."

"Do not be cheated by the UN," the Red interviewer argued.

"I have made up my mind," the POW replied.

When the Reds saw they were making no headway, they gave up, the observer said. Then the prisoner was left alone to make his choice between two doors—one to repatriation and Red China, the other back to his compound. He chose the latter.

Steel-helmeted Indian guards with big sticks stood outside the explanation booths.

More Guards Posted

Still more guards were posted along the road leading to the center from compounds where the rest of the 22,300 anti-Red POWs screamed and shouted.

Waving Chinese Nationalist flags, the first 200 prisoners emerged from their stockades and climbed aboard trucks to the interview area after a crack Indian battalion surrounded their barbed wire enclosure.

Indian Lt. Gen. K. S. Thimayya, head of the Repatriation Commission, ordered the troops to drag the POWs to the interviews if necessary. They had refused to leave their compounds for nearly seven hours.

The prisoners could be heard shouting from two miles away as they defied Thimayya's ultimatum to leave their compounds by noon. The deadline was extended to 1:30 p. m., and Thimayya assured 35 representatives of the POWs that they could return to their compounds after the explanations.

At 1:30 p. m., Thimayya told newsmen the POWs had promised to come out Friday morning. "Then we pushed in a battalion," the Indian general said.

At 2:30 p. m., he told newsmen: "They are coming out. It was quite a job, but they are coming now."

By terms of the armistice, both the Allies and Reds may interview their former troops refusing repatriation. The UN command has not announced when it will start explanations to the 23 Americans, 1 Briton and 335 South Koreans held by the Indians.

Port Ewen Issue Carries 138 to 38 For New Firehouse

Authority Is Granted Area for $40,000 in Bonds; $4,000 Also Voted for Lands

By a vote of 138 in favor and 38 opposed, with two void ballots, the taxpayers of the Port Ewen Fire District voted Wednesday authority to issue $40,000 in bonds to finance the re-construction of the Port Ewen firehouse and the sum of $4,000 to purchase adjacent lands necessary for the provement.

This was the second time an appropriation had been approved. The first vote was on a proposition to reconstruct the present fire house on lands now owned by the company on Broadway but it was found the plans were too elaborate and expensive to be carried out for the amount of the bond issue authorized.

New plans were prepared and Wallace Schryver, who owns the gas station property adjoining the firehouse, consented to sell his property to the district for $4,000. Residents of the fire district are grateful to Mr. Schryver for his public interest and willingness to sell the property to the fire district.

Under the new plan, prepared by George E. Lowe, architect, the present building will be incorporated in the new structure and entrance and exit for fire equipment will be on Legion court, a

Dulles Flies to London For Three Days of Talk

Pella Group Would Talk About Trieste

Would Confer With Slavs Over Future of Free Territory

Rome, Oct. 15 (AP)—Premier Giuseppe Pella's government is willing to confere with Yugoslav over the future of a free territory of Trieste whenever Italian troops are allowed into Zone A or Yugo-Slav troops are withdrawn from Zone B, according to semi-official Review Esteri.

The foreign affairs publication, whose material often directly reflects government views, said in an article headed "Tito's threats:"

"As for Yugoslavia's pretense that the entry of Italian troops in Zone A of Trieste would constitute a threat to peace, it suffices to point out that the United Nations would have to find, in such a case, that the presence of Yugoslav troops now in Zone B creates an equal threat to peace.

Says It Seems Odd

"It seems odd that the Yugoslav government now declares itself ready to join in a conference with the United States, Britain and Italy on Trieste when only on Sept. 28 it solemnly rejected such a conference (proposed by Italy).

"Nonetheless, the Italian government is disposed willingly to participate in a conference on the future of Trieste as soon as the interested parties can enter such a conference on equal terms. That is: With Italy in Zone A, or with the evacuation of Yugoslav troops from Zone B.

"We have no intention to enter into an exchange of threats with the Yugoslav dictator. Democratic Italy would know, however, how to guard her rights and her territory if necessary. And in such a case she also knows she could count on the concrete support of the Atlantic Pact Nations."

'Save Peace' Parley Gets New Urgency by Situation at Trieste

London, Oct. 15 (AP)—U. S. Secretary of State Dulles flew to London today for "save the peace" talks with British Foreign Secretary Eden and French Foreign Minister Bidault. The explosive Triest situation gave the conference new urgency.

Accompanying him were his wife and four top State Department experts.

The latest Big Three talks are scheduled to open tomorrow and to last through Saturday. Trieste undoubtedly was the top item for discussion, but the three ministers had a fistful of other topics to talk over.

Prime Minister Churchill arranged to dine with Dulles tonight and to meet Bidault separately. The British veteran is expected to press on both his pet projects for a top-level, informal conference of himself, President Eisenhower, French Premier Joseph Laniel and Soviet Premier Georgi Malenkov.

Hope Is Expressed

As he left Wasington last night, Dulles in a statement expressed hope the London talks would "make some progress" toward easing world tensions.

The three nations' "undeviating objective" he said, is "to seek out, with all of our allies, the basis for a lasting peace."

"We cannot, of course, expect in a single meeting at London to devise solutions for all existing problems. We can hope to make some progress in finding the way whereby we and others can move in unison toward easing of existing tensions," Dulles declared.

Although both the British Foreign Office and the State Department claimed the get-together had been in the making for some time, it was given a war-or-peace urgency by Yugoslav President Tito's threats to use force to forestall the announced British-American plan to turn over Trieste's Zone A to Italy.

Bid for Molotov

In addition to Trieste and Churchill's "Big Four" project, the ministers also were expected to give final approval to their new vote inviting Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov to meet them at Lugano, Switzerland, Nov. 9 to discuss Germany and Austria, and to study latest developments on the projected Korean Peace conference.

Accompanying Dulles were his public affairs chief, Assistant Secretary of State Carl McCardle; State Department Counselor Douglas MacArthur II, Director Robert Bowie of the policy planning staff, and Ridgeway Knight, deputy director of the Office of Western European Affairs.

Fender Torn From Car At Riverside Park

The right rear fender of an automobile driven by Howard S. Johnson of Morrisville, Pa., was torn off in a minor accident on Route 209 at Riverside Park about 9:10 a. m. today, the sheriff's office reported.

Deputy Sheriffs Arthur Smith and James Marano reported that Johnson's vehicle and one driven by Everett G. Colwell, 28, a U. S. Marine, collided when Johnson was passing Colwell who, in turn, pulled out to pass another car, driven by Charles Wood of Albany, which had slowed to turn into the Schryver Poultry Farm dirveway. No personal injuries were reported.

Wicks to Go on TV And Radio Sunday

Acting Lieut. Governor Cancels Trip to Talk to State Electorate

Acting Lt. Gov. Arthur H. Wicks, under Gov. Dewey's fire for visiting extortionist Joseph S. Fay in Sing Sing, about labor disputes in the 34th Senatorial District, will take his case directly to the people of the state in a statewide television and radio broadcast Sunday afternoon.

Although the subject of his talk was not disclosed, it was learned authoritatively that Wicks would defend his visits to former union leader Fay.

Wicks, who also is Senate Majority Leader, will be heard and seen Sunday on WNBT (Channel 4) from 1:30 to 2 p. m. Later, from 5:30 to 6 o'clock, there will be a broadcast of his speech over WOR and the Mutual Broadcasting System. The speech will be carried by WKNY, it was said.

Lt. Governor Wicks today canceled his trip to Havana with the New York State Savings Bank Association. He is a director of the State of New York National Bank and the Savings and Loan Association of Kingston.

There was no announcement by Lt. Governor Wicks' office what

Wicks Has Host of Friends, Whale of Fellow in District, Is Appraisal of AP Writer

By NAT BOYNTON

Albany, Oct. 15 (AP)—By nature, environment and training Sen. Arthur H. Wicks is a scrapper.

Gov. Dewey knew he was dealing with no Caspar Milquetoast when he called in Wicks and urged him to resign as Senate leader because of Sing Sing visits to Joe Fay, the shakedown artist.

So it could not have surprised Dewey too much that the aggressive Wicks refused the governor's urging that he quit the leadership.

Wicks was born 65 years ago on New York's east side, where you had to be handy with your wits and fists to get anywhere, or even sometimes to survive—especially if you were small in stature like Arthur.

He started as a Democrat—in war work, but he quit his war committeeman's job in 1917 after an argument with his boss. Six years later he returned to politics—as a Republican.

Wicks, now the second highest officer of the Empire State, got as far as the seventh grade. Eventually his family moved upstate—to a farm near Olive Bridge, Ulster county.

When Wicks, then a bantamweight, was 17, he was earning $2 a day with a pick and shovel gang building the Ashokan reservoir near Kingston.

His family moved back to New York after a few years and Wicks got a job working for his uncle in a piano factory on East 137th street.

After obtaining a "mail order" education in mathematics and civil engineering, Wicks passed a New York city civil service test. He became a city engineering inspector and as such worked with "sandhogs" on the construction of the first subway under the East river.

He resigned the inspector's job and moved to Kingston where, at 26, he borrowed $8,500 and bought a laundry. He prospered and became a director of a couple of banks and held an interest in a bus company. He sold the laundry and bus line a few years ago.

Wicks first ran for the Senate in 1927. He was talked into it, reluctantly, by the Republican leader. It was to be a one-year trial. The job paid only $1,500.

Wicks stayed on — and climbed. He eventually became chairman of the powerful Senate Finance Committee and, in 1949, majority leader and tem-

Goggin Death Was Caused By Wire Contact, Police Say

Walter P. Goggin, 44-year-old ironworker, was electrocuted when he jumped from a crane as its boom touched a 66,000 volt high tension line at a Thruway construction project near Rosendale, a state police investigation of his death at noon Wednesday has disclosed.

Goggin resided at 159 Liberty street, Newburgh, with his wife, Eva Faucett Goggin, and a daughter. They also have two sons who are serving in the armed forces.

State police pieced together this version of the accident:

Goggin was in charge of a large crane which was being moved to a job on Thruway work about a mile and a half north of Rosendale. Lawton E. Hunter of Liberty was driving the vehicle and Angelo Petrino of Bridgeport, Mass., was the third crew member.

As the raised boom approached overhead wires, other workmen tried to attract the attention of the crane crew. Goggin jumped to the ground, his feet touching the ground at the same instant the crane boom touched the high tension line.

The other crewmen, saved from injury by the fact that they were on the vehicle and did not become "grounded" said they saw a "terrific flash."

The wire, which Central Hudson Gas and Electric Corporation officials reported later carried 66,000 volts, did not break as the crane vehicle was brought to a stop just too late to prevent the accident, state police reported.

Information available Wednesday afternoon indicated that workmen rushed to Goggin's assistance and one of them, Albert Melville of Kingston, applied artificial respiration until the ambulance arrived.

Goggin was pronounced dead on his arrival at Kingston Hospital, and Coroner Francis J. McCardle issued a verdict that death was due to electrocution.

The accident occurred about 11:45 a. m. Wednesday.

Goggin was born in Canada, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Goggin. He is survived by his wife, Eva Faucett Goggin; a daughter, Constance, of Newburgh; two sons, Walter Goggin in the U. S. Navy stationed at Maryland, and Richard Goggin of the U. S. Marine Corps stationed at Virginia; two brothers, John, of New Hampshire, and Murray, of Canada; three sisters, Mrs. Audrey Gaunce, Mrs. Ethel Foster and Mrs. Clara Falkins, all of Canada, several nieces and nephews.

Funeral services will be held at the Toohey Brothers Funeral Chapel, 24 Lander street, Newburgh, at 2 p. m. Friday, Oct. 16. Burial will be in Wallkill Valley Cemetery.

Letter Followed by Report Man's Wife, Daughter Die

New York, Oct. 15 (AP)—George Brassloff received a letter yesterday from his wife, Barbara, saying she planned to fly home from Europe next Saturday with their 2-year-old son Garry .

A short while later Brassloff was notified that his wife and son were listed among the dead in a Belgian airliner crash near the Rhein-Main Airport in Germany. The disaster killed 44 persons including 11, possibly 12, Americans.

Brassloff had returned home in August from Brussels, where he spent 3½ years as a representative of the Pan American Trade Development Corp., an export-import firm of New York.

His wife and child were to rejoin him here later.

Yesterday he received his wife's letter, dated Oct. 9. She told him that her original plans to come back by ship were upset by reservations difficulties, and that instead she would fly home.

She said she was scheduled to leave on a flight next Saturday.

The Sabena Airlines office here reported, however, that she and her son were listed on the passenger manifest of the plane which crashed yesterday. The officials said they did not know how she came to be on the earlier flight. The Brassloff home is at 63-163A Alderton street, Rego Park, Queens.

Three other Americans, listed among the dead in the crash, were in the ill-fated plane because they decided to extend their stay in Europe by one week.

They were Albert M. Kessel, 44;

California Election Is Goal Of Democratic Strategists

Washington, Oct. 15 (AP)—Flushed by an upset victory in Wisconsin, Democrats trained their campaign guns today on a special congressional election in California on Nov. 10.

And some Republicans, stunned by Tuesday's reversal that saw a Wisconsin House seat go to the Democrats for the first time, talked of calling on the White House for help.

The California election is for the House seat vacated when Republican Norris Poulson resigned to become mayor of Los Angeles. It's in a district that in recent years has been normally Republican but has swung to the Democrats from time to time. Two Republicans and two Democrats are seeking Poulson's seat.

"We have better than an even chance to win it," said a top Democratic strategist, asking not to be named. "Onr chances there appear to be better than they were in Wisconsin, where he hoped to make a good showing but didn't expect to win."

A top House Republican said his information was that the California contest "may go either way."

"We are going to lose that one and many more in next year's general elections unless we get busy and really get to work," he added.

Rep Keating (R.-N.Y.) said Tuesday's election sending Democrat Lester Johnson to the House to replace the late Merlin F. Hull, veteran Republican, "was one of the best things that could have happened to the Republicans at this time.

"It may wake up the party and arouse us from our complacency,"

The state constitution limits a special session to the subjects referred to it by the governor.

Wicks has refused Dewey's request that he resign his Senate leadership because of his prison visits to Fay but has said he will let the Senate "pass upon my fitness."

Balch also scored Dewey for what he called the governor's "method of taking the heat off" recent harness racing track scandals.

He said Dewey's appointment of a commission to probe the harness racing industry was prompted by the theory that "you study it to death and hope that as the months go by public indignation will cool off."

Balch predicted the governor

Nine Men Seized In Newburgh Raid

Newburgh, Oct. 15 (AP)—Nine local men were held in $1,000 bail each today for grand jury action following a raid on an alleged bookmaking establishment.

District Attorney Abraham Isseks led state troopers and local police on the raid yesterday afternoon at 86 Lake street. Isseks said $6,000 cash and bookmaking equipment were confiscated.

William Meyers was held on a charge of operating a gaming room, and the other eight for bookmaking.

Port Ewen Issue Carries 138 to 38 For New Firehouse

Authority Is Granted Area for $40,000 in Bonds; $4,000 Also Voted for Lands

By a vote of 138 in favor and 38 opposed, with two void ballots, the taxpayers of the Port Ewen Fire District voted Wednesday authority to issue $40,000 in bonds to finance the re-construction of the Port Ewen firehouse and the sum of $4,000 to purchase adjacent lands necessary for the provement.

This was the second time an appropriation had been approved. The first vote was on a proposition to reconstruct the present fire house on lands now owned by the company on Broadway but it was found the plans were too elaborate and expensive to be carried out for the amount of the bond issue authorized.

New plans were prepared and Wallace Schryver, who owns the gas station property adjoining the firehouse, consented to sell his property to the district for $4,000. Residents of the fire district are grateful to Mr. Schryver for his public interest and willingness to sell the property to the fire district.

Under the new plan, prepared by George E. Lowe, architect, the present building will be incorporated in the new structure and entrance and exit for fire equipment will be on Legion court, a

Only 10 Men Seek to Be Sent Back

Five Hundred Are Seen by Reds in Opening Session — Will Hold Ceremony

Panmunjom, Oct. 15 (AP)—Balking Chinese war prisoners today rejected overwhelmingly the first Communist attempts to coax them home.

Of 500 Chinese who met Red interviewers in an opening session, only 10 requested repatriation to Red China, said the Neutral Nations Repatriation Commission (NNRC).

The long-delayed interviews began only after Indian custodian troops pried the wildly demonstrating Chinese from their compounds with threats of force.

After defying two Indian ultimatums, the first 200 rock-throwing, bugle-blowing anti-Red Chinese finally submitted to Communist interviews. The explanations began at 3:12 p. m. (1:12 a. m. EST), more than seven hours behind today's schedule.

Delayed by Wrangling

They originally were to have started Sept. 26 but were delayed by wrangling over facilities.

An Indian spokesman said the 10 Chinese would be returned to the Reds in a ceremony Thursday night at Panmunjom.

He said Communist persuasion teams will talk to 1,000 prisoners Friday, including at least 500 North Koreans.

The atmosphere was charged with tension in the opening of this vital psychological phase of the armistic, but there was no violence.

Indian guards had to prevent the first prisoner from slipping away as he was taken before the interviewer.

A UN interpreter said the Reds told the POW: "You must go back to your home, to your family."

Refuses to Face Interviewer

Refusing to face the interviewer, the prisoner answered, "no, I want to go to Formosa."

"Do not be cheated by the UN," the Red interviewer argued.

"I have made up my mind," the POW replied.

When the Reds saw they were making no headway, they gave up, the observer said. Then the prisoner was left alone to make his choice between two doors—one to repatriation and Red China, the other back to his compound. He chose the latter.

Steel-helmeted Indian guards with big sticks stood outside the explanation booths.

More Guards Posted

Still more guards were posted along the road leading to the center from compounds where the rest of the 22,300 anti-Red POWs screamed and shouted.

Waving Chinese Nationalist flags, the first 200 prisoners emerged from their stockades and climbed aboard trucks to the interview area after a crack Indian battalion surrounded their barbed wire enclosure.

Indian Lt. Gen. K. S. Thimayya, head of the Repatriation Commission, ordered the troops to drag the POWs to the interviews if necessary. They had refused to leave their compounds for nearly seven hours.

The prisoners could be heard shouting from two miles away as they defied Thimayya's ultimatum to leave their compounds by noon. The deadline was extended to 1:30 p. m., and Thimayya assured 35 representatives of the POWs that they could return to their compounds after the explanations.

At 1:30 p. m., Thimayya told newsmen the POWs had promised to come out Friday morning. "Then we pushed in a battalion," the Indian general said.

At 2:30 p. m., he told newsmen: "They are coming out. It was quite a job, but they are coming now."

By terms of the armistice, both the Allies and Reds may interview their former troops refusing repatriation. The UN command has not announced when it will start explanations to the 23 Americans, 1 Briton and 335 South Koreans held by the Indians.

Dulles Flies to London For Three Days of Talk

Pella Group Would Talk About Trieste

Would Confer With Slavs Over Future of Free Territory

Rome, Oct. 15 (AP)—Premier Giuseppe Pella's government is willing to confere with Yugoslav over the future of a free territory of Trieste whenever Italian troops are allowed into Zone A or Yugo-Slav troops are withdrawn from Zone B, according to semi-official Review Esteri.

The foreign affairs publication, whose material often directly reflects government views, said in an article headed "Tito's threats:"

"As for Yugoslavia's pretense that the entry of Italian troops in Zone A of Trieste would constitute a threat to peace, it suffices to point out that the United Nations would have to find, in such a case, that the presence of Yugoslav troops now in Zone B creates an equal threat to peace.

Says It Seems Odd

"It seems odd that the Yugoslav government now declares itself ready to join in a conference with the United States, Britain and Italy on Trieste when only on Sept. 28 it solemnly rejected such a conference (proposed by Italy).

"Nonetheless, the Italian government is disposed willingly to participate in a conference on the future of Trieste as soon as the interested parties can enter such a conference on equal terms. That is: With Italy in Zone A, or with the evacuation of Yugoslav troops from Zone B.

"We have no intention to enter into an exchange of threats with the Yugoslav dictator. Democratic Italy would know, however, how to guard her rights and her territory if necessary. And in such a case she also knows she could count on the concrete support of the Atlantic Pact Nations."

'Save Peace' Parley Gets New Urgency by Situation at Trieste

London, Oct. 15 (AP)—U. S. Secretary of State Dulles flew to London today for "save the peace" talks with British Foreign Secretary Eden and French Foreign Minister Bidault. The explosive Triest situation gave the conference new urgency.

Accompanying him were his wife and four top State Department experts.

The latest Big Three talks are scheduled to open tomorrow and to last through Saturday. Trieste undoubtedly was the top item for discussion, but the three ministers had a fistful of other topics to talk over.

Prime Minister Churchill arranged to dine with Dulles tonight and to meet Bidault separately. The British veteran is expected to press on both his pet projects for a top-level, informal conference of himself, President Eisenhower, French Premier Joseph Laniel and Soviet Premier Georgi Malenkov.

Hope Is Expressed

As he left Wasington last night, Dulles in a statement expressed hope the London talks would "make some progress" toward easing world tensions.

The three nations' "undeviating objective" he said, is "to seek out, with all of our allies, the basis for a lasting peace."

"We cannot, of course, expect in a single meeting at London to devise solutions for all existing problems. We can hope to make some progress in finding the way whereby we and others can move in unison toward easing of existing tensions," Dulles declared.

Although both the British Foreign Office and the State Department claimed the get-together had been in the making for some time, it was given a war-or-peace urgency by Yugoslav President Tito's threats to use force to forestall the announced British-American plan to turn over Trieste's Zone A to Italy.

Bid for Molotov

In addition to Trieste and Churchill's "Big Four" project, the ministers also were expected to give final approval to their new vote inviting Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov to meet them at Lugano, Switzerland, Nov. 9 to discuss Germany and Austria, and to study latest developments on the projected Korean Peace conference.

Accompanying Dulles were his public affairs chief, Assistant Secretary of State Carl McCardle; State Department Counselor Douglas MacArthur II, Director Robert Bowie of the policy planning staff, and Ridgeway Knight, deputy director of the Office of Western European Affairs.

Fender Torn From Car At Riverside Park

The right rear fender of an automobile driven by Howard S. Johnson of Morrisville, Pa., was torn off in a minor accident on Route 209 at Riverside Park about 9:10 a. m. today, the sheriff's office reported.

Deputy Sheriffs Arthur Smith and James Marano reported that Johnson's vehicle and one driven by Everett G. Colwell, 28, a U. S. Marine, collided when Johnson was passing Colwell who, in turn, pulled out to pass another car, driven by Charles Wood of Albany, which had slowed to turn into the Schryver Poultry Farm dirveway. No personal injuries were reported.

Wicks to Go on TV And Radio Sunday

Acting Lieut. Governor Cancels Trip to Talk to State Electorate

Acting Lt. Gov. Arthur H. Wicks, under Gov. Dewey's fire for visiting extortionist Joseph S. Fay in Sing Sing, about labor disputes in the 34th Senatorial District, will take his case directly to the people of the state in a statewide television and radio broadcast Sunday afternoon.

Although the subject of his talk was not disclosed, it was learned authoritatively that Wicks would defend his visits to former union leader Fay.

Wicks, who also is Senate Majority Leader, will be heard and seen Sunday on WNBT (Channel 4) from 1:30 to 2 p. m. Later, from 5:30 to 6 o'clock, there will be a broadcast of his speech over WOR and the Mutual Broadcasting System. The speech will be carried by WKNY, it was said.

Lt. Governor Wicks today canceled his trip to Havana with the New York State Savings Bank Association. He is a director of the State of New York National Bank and the Savings and Loan Association of Kingston.

There was no announcement by Lt. Governor Wicks' office what

Goggin Death Was Caused By Wire Contact, Police Say

Walter P. Goggin, 44-year-old ironworker, was electrocuted when he jumped from a crane as its boom touched a 66,000 volt high tension line at a Thruway construction project near Rosendale, a state police investigation of his death at noon Wednesday has disclosed.

Goggin resided at 159 Liberty street, Newburgh, with his wife, Eva Faucett Goggin, and a daughter. They also have two sons who are serving in the armed forces.

State police pieced together this version of the accident:

Goggin was in charge of a large crane which was being moved to a job on Thruway work about a mile and a half north of Rosendale. Lawton E. Hunter of Liberty was driving the vehicle and Angelo Petrino of Bridgeport, Mass., was the third crew member.

As the raised boom approached overhead wires, other workmen tried to attract the attention of the crane crew. Goggin jumped to the ground, his feet touching the ground at the same instant the crane boom touched the high tension line.

The other crewmen, saved from injury by the fact that they were on the vehicle and did not become "grounded" said they saw a "terrific flash."

The wire, which Central Hudson Gas and Electric Corporation officials reported later carried 66,000 volts, did not break as the crane vehicle was brought to a stop just too late to prevent the accident, state police reported.

Information available Wednesday afternoon indicated that workmen rushed to Goggin's assistance and one of them, Albert Melville of Kingston, applied artificial respiration until the ambulance arrived.

Goggin was pronounced dead on his arrival at Kingston Hospital, and Coroner Francis J. McCardle issued a verdict that death was due to electrocution.

The accident occurred about 11:45 a. m. Wednesday.

Goggin was born in Canada, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Goggin. He is survived by his wife, Eva Faucett Goggin; a daughter, Constance, of Newburgh; two sons, Walter Goggin in the U. S. Navy stationed at Maryland, and Richard Goggin of the U. S. Marine Corps stationed at Virginia; two brothers, John, of New Hampshire, and Murray, of Canada; three sisters, Mrs. Audrey Gaunce, Mrs. Ethel Foster and Mrs. Clara Falkins, all of Canada, several nieces and nephews.

Funeral services will be held at the Toohey Brothers Funeral Chapel, 24 Lander street, Newburgh, at 2 p. m. Friday, Oct. 16. Burial will be in Wallkill Valley Cemetery.

Wicks Has Host of Friends, Whale of Fellow in District, Is Appraisal of AP Writer

By NAT BOYNTON

Albany, Oct. 15 (AP)—By nature, environment and training Sen. Arthur H. Wicks is a scrapper.

Gov. Dewey knew he was dealing with no Caspar Milquetoast when he called in Wicks and urged him to resign as Senate leader because of Sing Sing visits to Joe Fay, the shakedown artist.

So it could not have surprised Dewey too much that the aggressive Wicks refused the governor's urging that he quit the leadership.

Wicks was born 65 years ago on New York's east side, where you had to be handy with your wits and fists to get anywhere, or even sometimes to survive—especially if you were small in stature like Arthur.

He started as a Democrat—in war work, but he quit his war committeeman's job in 1917 after an argument with his boss. Six years later he returned to politics—as a Republican.

Wicks, now the second highest officer of the Empire State, got as far as the seventh grade. Eventually his family moved upstate—to a farm near Olive Bridge, Ulster county.

When Wicks, then a bantamweight, was 17, he was earning $2 a day with a pick and shovel gang building the Ashokan reservoir near Kingston.

His family moved back to New York after a few years and Wicks got a job working for his uncle in a piano factory on East 137th street.

After obtaining a "mail order" education in mathematics and civil engineering, Wicks passed a New York city civil service test. He became a city engineering inspector and as such worked with "sandhogs" on the construction of the first subway under the East river.

He resigned the inspector's job and moved to Kingston where, at 26, he borrowed $8,500 and bought a laundry. He prospered and became a director of a couple of banks and held an interest in a bus company. He sold the laundry and bus line a few years ago.

Wicks first ran for the Senate in 1927. He was talked into it, reluctantly, by the Republican leader. It was to be a one-year trial. The job paid only $1,500.

Wicks stayed on — and climbed. He eventually became chairman of the powerful Senate Finance Committee and, in 1949, majority leader and tem-

California Election Is Goal Of Democratic Strategists

Washington, Oct. 15 (AP)—Flushed by an upset victory in Wisconsin, Democrats trained their campaign guns today on a special congressional election in California on Nov. 10.

And some Republicans, stunned by Tuesday's reversal that saw a Wisconsin House seat go to the Democrats for the first time, talked of calling on the White House for help.

The California election is for the House seat vacated when Republican Norris Poulson resigned to become mayor of Los Angeles. It's in a district that in recent years has been normally Republican but has swung to the Democrats from time to time. Two Republicans and two Democrats are seeking Poulson's seat.

"We have better than an even chance to win it," said a top Democratic strategist, asking not to be named. "Onr chances there appear to be better than they were in Wisconsin, where he hoped to make a good showing but didn't expect to win."

A top House Republican said his information was that the California contest "may go either way."

"We are going to lose that one and many more in next year's general elections unless we get busy and really get to work," he added.

Rep Keating (R.-N.Y.) said Tuesday's election sending Democrat Lester Johnson to the House to replace the late Merlin F. Hull, veteran Republican, "was one of the best things that could have happened to the Republicans at this time.

"It may wake up the party and arouse us from our complacency,"

Letter Followed by Report Man's Wife, Daughter Die

New York, Oct. 15 (AP)—George Brassloff received a letter yesterday from his wife, Barbara, saying she planned to fly home from Europe next Saturday with their 2-year-old son Garry.

A short while later Brassloff was notified that his wife and son were listed among the dead in a Belgian airliner crash near the Rhein-Main Airport in Germany. The disaster killed 44 persons including 11, possibly 12, Americans.

Brassloff had returned home in August from Brussels, where he spent 3½ years as a representative of the Pan American Trade Development Corp., an export-import firm of New York.

His wife and child were to rejoin him here later.

Yesterday he received his wife's letter, dated Oct. 9. She told him that her original plans to come back by ship were upset by reservations difficulties, and that instead she would fly home.

She said she was scheduled to leave on a flight next Saturday.

The Sabena Airlines office here reported, however, that she and her son were listed on the passenger manifest of the plane which crashed yesterday. The officials said they did not know how she came to be on the earlier flight. The Brassloff home is at 63-163A Alderton street, Rego Park, Queens.

Three other Americans, listed among the dead in the crash, were in the ill-fated plane because they decided to extend their stay in Europe by one week.

They were Albert M. Kessel, 44;

Do You Remember

By SOPHIE MILLER

Mrs. H. L. Van Deusen and her daughter, Ann Van Deusen McNelis, gave me a precious old scrap book which originally belonged to the Van Deusen pharmacy of Kingston back in 1888 when H. L. Van Deusen used it to paste in his newspaper items. Looking back in the drug store life of Kingston, April 9, 1888, I see the Welch family bought cough mixture for 25 cents and a nipple for five cents. In those days, dog soap cost 25 cents. Castor oil could be bought for five cents a bottle. I remember how my father hated pouring castor oil from a large bottle into a small bottle in winter, for it was cold and thick. That was back in the early 1920's. In the 1888's Cubeb medicated cigarettes were 10 cents. Van Deusen's pharmacy seemed to be known for its tutti-fruiti and licorice drops, for they sold lots of it. Items such as oil of cedar, 15 cents; oil of turpentine 15 cents; and camphor gum 15 cents went to one customer. Prescriptions were from about 20 cents to 40 cents in 1888.

In those days, cigars were selling from five cents each to two for 25 cents. Van Deusen's pharmacy also sold cigars from around $1 a box to $2 a box. T. J. Allen bought a box for $1.75. Those were the days before toothpaste and tubes so tooth powder was popular and sold for 25 cents. Stamps were sold over the drug store counter too in those days. Some men must have been heavy smokers. S. Hawley bought a box of cigars for $2 April 29, then again May 12 and again June 1 bought two boxes. I also noticed one sponge for one cent on his bill. Adhesive plasters went for five cents in those days. Sea salt was popular and was sold for 25 cents. Tom Buck in 1888 bought Florida water for 50 cents, tooth powder for 25 cents and bay rum for 25 cents. One seldom hears about bay rum today.

There is a newspaper item of a later date, perhaps around June 3, 1912, which is penciled in near item reading in part: "One Kingston Academy student hit by rocks in a baseball victory of Kingston Academy students over the Ulster Academy team. The rumpus started uptown at the Academy and continued downtown with various unfortunate incidents. Around McEntee some of the participants took advantage of the high stone wall on Broadway and McEntee from which they threw stones at the victorious marchers. Young Dolson was hit by a flying rock, knocking him unconscious and he was picked up and taken to his home in the automobile of Ray Everett." Perhaps in a later paper more details are given of this fracas. Who remembers it?

In the back of the book there are a number of old fashioned candy recipes, perhaps which the drug store used, if they sold home-made candy. Such items are listed as velvet molasses candy, butter taffy, maple sugar candy, vinegar candy, white taffy and butter scotch. If any of the readers are interested in these I will gladly show them the old book and they can copy them out, no doubt they were the kind grandma used to make with success. One no longer hears of taffy pulls, since I guess machinery came in to do it automatically. I feel for the true old fashioned flavors, candy must be homemade by an expert of the old school.

Need Volunteers In Yule Seal Work

A call for volunteers to help with preparations for the Christmas Seals sale was issued today by Mrs. John Warren, chairman of volunteer services for the campaign.

Proceeds from the 1953 Christmas Seals sale will be used for the 1954 health program of the Ulster County TB and Health Association.

The Girl Scouts of Troops 71 and 5 started off the work on Columbus Day, their day off! Other organizations already volunteering their services, according to Mrs. Warren, include the B'nai B'rith Auxiliary, Newcomers Club, Golden Age Club, and other YWCA groups, the Rosary Society of St. Mary's Church, the Service Club of the Rondout Presbyterian Wurts Street Baptist Church, the Women's Democratic Club, and the Women's Republican Club.

Other groups or any individual who can give some time to this important work are invited to call the Ulster County TB and Health Association, 74 John street, telephone 1164.

Lyonsville

Lyonsville, Oct. 14—A number of local people interested in forming a community club met at the hall Sunday afternoon. Several others unable to attend made known their concern which resulted in a meeting set for Oct. 17 at 8 p. m. at the hall at which time officers will be elected and necessary business transacted. Everyone interested in the civic and social activities of the community is invited.

Mrs. Floyd Davis was a recent Sunday dinner guest of Mr. and Mrs. Sherman Lyons at their home in Kripplebush. Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Travis of Circleville also were guests at the Lyons home.

Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Christensen, who have recently moved from Phoenixville, Pa., to New Brunswick, N. J., spent the weekend at their home here.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth C. Oakley spent Saturday at the Danbury Fair. On Sunday, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth J. Oakley accompanied by James Davis and sons, Sherwood and Sheldon of Ellenville, attended the fair.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank DeFranco and son, Frank, Jr., spent last weekend visiting relatives at Garfield, N. J.

Repair of Foreign Cars

Brooklyn (AP)—Introduction of foreign make cars in the United States within the past few years has persuaded the Brooklyn Public Library to add to its collection of auto manuals guiding the repair and maintenance of all American cars. Now the library has service manuals for a large number of foreign cars now being sold in this country.

Do You Remember

By SOPHIE MILLER

Mrs. H. L. Van Deusen and her daughter, Ann Van Deusen McNelis, gave me a precious old scrap book which originally belonged to the Van Deusen pharmacy of Kingston back in 1888 when H. L. Van Deusen used it to paste in his newspaper items. Looking back in the drug store life of Kingston, April 9, 1888, I see the Welch family bought cough mixture for 25 cents and a nipple for five cents. In those days, dog soap cost 25 cents. Castor oil could be bought for five cents a bottle. I remember how my father hated pouring castor oil from a large bottle into a small bottle in winter, for it was cold and thick. That was back in the early 1920's. In the 1888's Cubeb medicated cigarettes were 10 cents. Van Deusen's pharmacy seemed to be known for its tutti-fruiti and licorice drops, for they sold lots of it. Items such as oil of cedar, 15 cents; oil of turpentine 15 cents; and camphor gum 15 cents went to one customer. Prescriptions were from about 20 cents to 40 cents in 1888.

In those days, cigars were selling from five cents each to two for 25 cents. Van Deusen's pharmacy also sold cigars from around $1 a box to $2 a box. T. J. Allen bought a box for $1.75. Those were the days before toothpaste and tubes so tooth powder was popular and sold for 25 cents. Stamps were sold over the drug store counter too in those days. Some men must have been heavy smokers. S. Hawley bought a box of cigars for $2 April 29, then again May 12 and again June 1 bought two boxes. I also noticed one sponge for one cent on his bill. Adhesive plasters went for five cents in those days. Sea salt was popular and was sold for 25 cents. Tom Buck in 1888 bought Florida water for 50 cents, tooth powder for 25 cents and bay rum for 25 cents. One seldom hears about bay rum today.

There is a newspaper item of a later date, perhaps around June 3, 1912, which is penciled in near item reading in part: "One Kingston Academy student hit by rocks in a baseball victory of Kingston Academy students over the Ulster Academy team. The rumpus started uptown at the Academy and continued downtown with various unfortunate incidents. Around McEntee some of the participants took advantage of the high stone wall on Broadway and McEntee from which they threw stones at the victorious marchers. Young Dolson was hit by a flying rock, knocking him unconscious and he was picked up and taken to his home in the automobile of Ray Everett." Perhaps in a later paper more details are given of this fracas. Who remembers it?

In the back of the book there are a number of old fashioned candy recipes, perhaps which the drug store used, if they sold home-made candy. Such items are listed as velvet molasses candy, butter taffy, maple sugar candy, vinegar candy, white taffy and butter scotch. If any of the readers are interested in these I will gladly show them the old book and they can copy them out, no doubt they were the kind grandma used to make with success. One no longer hears of taffy pulls, since I guess machinery came in to do it automatically. I feel for the true old fashioned flavors, candy must be homemade by an expert of the old school.

KINGSTON, NEW YORK, OCTOBER 15, 1953

RISK OF A MEDIATOR

In many parts of the world the United States finds itself in the position of the man who steps between two other men who are fighting and has his eye blackened in the confusion. One instance of this is in the current controversy over Trieste between Italy and Yugoslavia.

Italy claims Trieste because of the fact that it is largely inhabited by Italians. Yugoslavia bases its claim on its need for the city as a port and on the fact that many of the Yugoslavs who once lived there were forced to move by Mussolini when he was dictator of Italy. There is some truth and justice on both sides.

The United States and Britain have proposed a plan which would place both Italy and Yugoslavia on an equal footing in Trieste. It is hard to see how the suggestion can be received favorably by either country in the light of their past avowed positions. The first reaction was unfavorable and both sides demonstrated against it.

The United States wants to see a peaceful solution reached. We want to keep both Italy and Yugoslavia in our camp against the Russians. In our effort to mediate the problem, however, our prestige in either or both the countries can be severely damaged. We are fast becoming aware of the problems of our new position of world leadership. The possibility of an occasional black eye, while not a pleasant prospect, is one that cannot be ignored.

A GENERAL RETIRES

General Mark Clark, after 36 years, is retiring from the United States Army. Even in an era of our history which has seen us blessed with some of the finest military leaders, his record is outstanding. In World War I he was wounded in action. In World War II he commanded the famous Fifth Army which captured Rome.

At the end of World War II it seemed for a time that he might spend his remaining years as a professional soldier in comparative peace. But seventeen months ago he was sent to command the United Nations forces in Korea and in that heartbreaking and frustrating conflict he performed some of his finest service. He had to be more than a soldier. His dealings with Syngman Rhee called for a keen knowledge of human relations.

Today's military leader must be a diplomat as well as a strategist and it was to General Clark's everlasting credit that he recognized this fact and adjusted himself to the new need. America is deeply indebted to this man who has spent all of his adult life in fighting his country's battles. Without such men our democracy could never survive.

THE NINE MIDDLE-AGED

The term "nine old men" no longer applies to the Supreme Court. In 1937 when it had become increasingly applicable to that body, the average age of the judges was 71. Now it is 63. Only one justice, Felix Frankfurter, is as old as the general average 16 years ago. From 71 they taper down to 54, the age of the youngest, Tom C. Clark.

The objection to having a bench as far advanced in years as the Supreme Court was through most of the '30's, was the inflexibility that too often comes with years. There was a widespread feeling that some of the judges had their minds made up in advance against liberal measures, and that no argument could sway them. This was a serious matter in the case of a body which can annul legislation.

Governor Warren's appointment as chief justice does not affect the situation. He is 62, practically the same as the average age of his colleagues.

GREATEST OF DANGERS

"I place economy among the first and most important of republican virtues, and public debt as the greatest of the dangers to be feared."

That was written nearly a century and a half ago, by one of the ablest of our Presidents, Thomas Jefferson. And it applies with infinitely more force to the conditions that exist now as against the conditions that existed then.

'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY

MARY CAVEATT

The National Inter-Law School Moot Court Competition is sponsored annually by The Committee on Junior Bar Activities of The Association of the Bar of the City of New York. Offered as a text in this competition is a pamphlet, which may be interesting to young lawyers, who at Moot trials have an opportunity to try their wits, but which, in my judgment, is a wickedly clever piece of propaganda designed to influence public opinion in favor of those who hide subversion, espionage, and corruption of American life, by an abuse of the Fifth Amendment to the Constitution.

This pamphlet is a model transcript of record of a hypothetical case before the Supreme Court of the United States, namely, the president and trustees of Targe University vs. Mary Caveatt, widow of Scholarleigh Caveatt, who had appeared before a Congressional committee, plead the Fifth Amendment, was fired by the University, climbed a mountain and dropped dead.

Judge Wise of the United States District Court handed down a decision favoring the University, but in the course of that decision, he quotes the Congressional committee's transcript. No name of a Senator or Representative is given and it is therefore impossible to know for sure whether the learned but cagy lawyers who conceived the pamphlet were referring to Senators McCarren, Jenner, or McCarthy or to Representative Velde.

As the pamphlet refers to Communist infiltration into our universities, we must assume that the references are to Senator Jenner, as his committee has been investigating this subject under the brilliant direction of Robert Morris, its counsel.

The Jenner Committee, as well as the others, has followed a procedure with which these Bar Association authors are apparently not familiar, namely, that before a witness is called in open hearings, he is given an opportunity to appear in Executive Session. In its report on this subject, the Jenner Committee stated:

". . . This testimony was not made public in any case until the persons so identified as Communists were given an opportunity in private session to contravert or deny the evidence. After these private sessions, the educators were then called before the subcommittee also in private session and asked about the details of the evidence, and their refusal to deny or contravert the evidence was followed by open hearings. The subcommittee felt that such a method was the most responsible procedure of exposing those who are Communists. Furthermore, it insured fairness and accuracy both to the witness and the subcommittee, since, according to this standard, the names of those who denied Communist Party membership were not brought into the public record as subversives."

Because of this method, had the mythical professor Scholarleigh Caveatt denied, under oath, Communist affiliation in private hearings, referred to as Executive Sessions, he would not have been called for a public hearing. By the omission of any reference to this usual and normal procedure, the Moot Court pamphlet burlesques the entire process of investigation and gives to the matter a propagandistic twist, which, it appears to me, it is designed to do.

Furthermore, the quoted transcript of the hearings is so written as to give the impression that the witness is never permitted to reply to a question. I have literally read every word of every hearing before the McCarren, Jenner and McCarthy committees—millions of words—the dullest reading I have encountered in all my years. Some of it I have quoted verbatim in these columns as examples of the horrifying attitude toward the United States on the part of those who teach our sons. I beg the reader's pardon for these boring quotations, but I feel that only if such words are seen can they be believed.

From this vast reading, I can witness that only those who attempted to make irrelevant, unrelated and propagandistic speeches were stopped in their tracks. Otherwise, they talked on and on.

In the Bar Association pamphlet, there is an appeal to a higher court and the judgment of Judge Wise is reversed. And here is the propaganda: the total abuse of the Fifth Amendment is upheld, despite the fact that that amendment to our Constitution has been used to aid spies, saboteurs, subversives, those who stole our atom bomb, the hydrogen bomb, and the defensive steps we are taking against the consequences of these thefts.

The lawyers who prepared this pamphlet do not honor it with their names.

That Body of Yours

By JAMES W. BARTON, M.D.

DUPLICATIONS OF STOMACH AND INTESTINE

A few years ago a patient accompanied by his physician went to the X-ray department of a large hospital to look over the X-ray films because of pain in lower abdomen. It was found that the patient had an extra twelve inches of large bowel which, under certain circumstances, caused considerable pain while at other times he was free of pain.

As patient and physician were looking at the film and the physician was pointing out the extra twelve inches of bowel, a professor of surgery leaned over and jokingly suggested that he remove the extra twelve incheas of bowel as this would prevent the pain which he thought must be present.

The patient looked expectantly at the physician who shook his head and said it could be removed, if necessary, as surgery could always be done but perhaps medical treatment would be sufficient. The pain and distress had been present for several months. He learned that the patient, a field mining engineer, had spent most of his time walking in the bush, paddling a canoe and carrying the canoe at times, but for the past few months had spent his time in the office making maps. During the time he was doing field work he had had no pain or distress. His physician pointed out that it was the exercise taken that prevented his symptoms and sent him to a gymnasium for regular exercise. He obtained relief from his symptoms and surgical removal of the extra twelve inches of bowel was not done.

In "Annals of Surgery," Philadelphia, Drs. J. J. Nolan and J. G. Lee report that the fact that three alimentary canals (stomach and intestines) had duplications which were observed within six months in patients from 31 to 51 years of age convinced them that these duplications were present more often in adults than had been thought.

Of the three patients whose histories were presented, one had a massive duplication of his stomach with bleeding, the second had a round or spherical duplication of the oesophagus (tube carrying food from mouth to stomach) with compression of a part of the heart, and the third had a spherical duplication of the large bowel (as in the case of the mining engineer mentioned above).

Drs. Nolan and Lee describe the type of case in which surgical treatment of the duplication is generally used. "When the duplication is associated with a portion of the alimentary tract which lends itself to surgical removal, the outcome is more likely to be favorable."

The Bad Egg South of the Border

Edson's Washington News Notebook

By PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

Washington (NEA)—The next few weeks will see an important showdown in the Eisenhower administration. The question being decided is whether to continue its policy of seeking a balanced budget.

The alternative is to abandon that program and admit that an unbalanced budget will be necessary for bolstering national defense against a possible Russian surprise attack with hydrogen bombs.

The chief spokesman for the balanced budget, for buying national defense on a cash basis, seems to be Secretary of Treasury George M. Humphrey. His philosophy was perhaps best expressed in a statement made earlier this year before a Senate appropriations subcommittee:

"What we are trying to do," he said, "is protect the American way of life. It is threatened from outside aggression. . . .

"But it can be destroyed just as readily from the inside," the secretary continued, "if we here overspend ourselves, if we badly manage our finances, if we upset our methods of living and our methods of dealing with each other. You have then destroyed our way of life. It will be just as effective a destruction. In fact—I'm not sure that it will not be total.

"It has been said many times that Stalin's whole program was to have us destroy ourselves. . . . All he had to do was keep the pressure on and we would destroy ourselves."

Policy Statement Responsible for Cutback

This has turned out to be a most profound statement of Eisenhower administration policy. This policy was responsible for the cutback in U. S. defense appropriations by $5 billion.

Even this cut was not sufficient to balance the budget this year. But it laid the foundations for balancing the budget next year, if the policy of spending no more money for defense than could be raised by taxation is continued.

This idea has come under a cloud of doubt by extreme and conflicting statements from such high administration officials as Secretary of Defense Charles E. Wilson, Defense Mobilization Director Arthur S. Flemming, Civilian Defense Administrator Val Peterson and Rep. W. Sterling Cole of New York, chairman of the Congressional Atomic Energy Commission.

Said Dr. Flemming: "Soviet Russia is capable of delivering . . . the most destructive weapon . . . on chosen targets in the U. S."

Said Secretary Wilson: "I think it is stretching it a bit to say they have that ability right now." He put it three years off.

Said Governor Peterson: "I am assuming no one has the hydrogen bomb yet." But he made a plea for a vast network of U. S. underground shelters to cost from $12 billion to $90 billion.

Chairman Cole advocated unbalancing the budget, if necessary, to provide for adequate U. S. defenses. But he put the cost at from $15 to $20 billion over a three-to-five year period.

In a less noticed and less sensational statement, Defense Mobilizer Flemming reported the U. S. is already spending $4 billion a year on continental defense.

Crisis Deals With U. S. Spending Into Destruction

Anything beyond that would therefore unbalance the budget and lead to deficit financing for national defense. And there you come face to face with the question of whether the U. S. can be spent into total destruction just as easily as it can be bombed into destruction.

This is Washington's latest crisis. It may have been caused unconsciously by one of President Eisenhower's own statements at his Sept. 30 press conference.

He said then that when he got this whole subject properly sorted out in his mind, he would go before the people to tell them frankly the facts and his own conclusions.

This uncertainty of the President's seems to have given some of his principal subordinates the opportunity to go shouting off in all directions in support of their own ideas and theories.

President Eisenhower has shown the ability to stop a lot of speculative discussion with a simple statement. But his October 8 press conference cleared the air only partially. It silenced cabinet officers and others who have been shooting off their mouths too freely. But the President left up in the air the question of greater defense spending or budget balancing next year. These matters are still to be threshed out in the National Security Council.

White House Has Right to Be Concerned Over Outcome of Wisconsin Voting

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Oct. 15 (AP) — The White House might well be concerned about the defeat experienced by the Republican nominee for Congress in the Ninth District in Wisconsin.

For, when only 21,000 Republicans go to the polls this time, as compared with 81,000 who voted Republican in the same district eleven months ago, there is something to be explained. The late Senator Taft used to say again and again that when Republicans stay at home in large numbers, it's either because they don't care which nominee wins or because they are overconfident about the outcome anyway.

There was, of course, much disaffection over the farm issue, particularly the drop in farm income which started under the Truman administration but which operates against the Republican party because it's in power today. To say, however, that the farm question is the only reason for the defeat of the Republican nominee is to ignore the trend in that same district heretofore. The late Merlin Hull, who was a La Follette Republican, got the benefit of both the radical and conservative votes in the Republican party and in November 1950 he got 60,000 Republican votes, while the Democratic nominee got about 25,000. This was an off-year election—that is, there was no presidential ticket in the field.

A comparison can also be made with 1946, when Mr. Hull got 70,000 votes and had virtually no opposition. Fewer than 1,000 votes were cast for the other candidate, who was a Socialist.

Back in 1944 the same thing happened when Mr. Hull, running as a Progressive, got 48,000 votes agaist 736 for his Socialist opposition. But in 1942, as a Progressive, Mr. Hull got 38,000 votes while the regular Republican polled about 20,000.

So the ninth Wisconsin district hasn't been a clear-cut example of a straight-out Republican and Democratic fight. The late Representative Hull was a New Deal Republican and in the last Congress often voted against the Eisenhower administration.

The Republican nominee this time, State Senator Arthur Padrutt, was a regular organization man who promised to support the Eisenhower administration. He got 21,000 votes. His opponent, the successful Lester Johnson, who promised to vote in Congress as the late Mr. Hull did, got 28,000. The combined vote was only 40 per cent of the 1952 total. Obviously some Republicans who wanted to register a protest on farm policies went over to the Democratic side this time but most of the regular Republicans—who probably voted heavily for President Eisenhower last November and would have favored Padrutt—did not come out to vote at all. This was either because they were confident the district would go Republican anyway or because they weren't much concerned with the issues — nobody had aroused them.

The Democratic national campaign committee thought enough of the special election to send in some of its prominent speakers—former Secretaries of Agriculture Brannan and Wickard, Senator Kefauver and others. The Republican national campaign managers didn't take the contest seriously enough to get out the vote.

Now it could be that many of the regular Republicans stayed away because they, too, have lost some of their enthusiasm for the Eisenhower administration. If this is so, it is going to be very important for the White House to begin to worry a lot more about the regular Republicans it may be losing than about the New Deal Democrats it seems to be angling for in some of its policies.

The moral of the Wisconsin election for the Democrats is to keep hammering away on the assumption that the Republicans will not get out their vote, and the moral for the Republicans is that they will lose many a district in November, 1954, if they take it for granted that they can allow a substantial defection without offsetting it by getting the stay-at-home Republicans to go to the polls.

A total of 124,000 people voted in November, 1952 for a congressional candidate in the 9th Wisconsin District. This week both parties there cast a total of less than 50,000 votes. One would think an election to choose a member of Congress would be as important today as it was 11 months ago. It was the smallest total vote since the late Representative Hull ran virtually unopposed in 1944.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

The voters of the city of New York actually have a responsibility in the impending election which is far beyond the vision and understanding of most of them. In this case, it is up to them to decide in a lukewarm election of a mayor whether European socialism shall capture its first great political beachhead in this country.

There are two candidates of the Marxian Socialist movement, both heavily financed by typical, tyrannical unions with enormous political slush-funds. The Garment Workers, under David Dubinsky, supports Rudolph Halley, who has unconditionally acknowledged his debt to Dubinsky for his election to his present job of president of the city council. The CIO Transport Workers' Union, under Mike Quill, is backing Robert F. Wagner, Jr. This Wagner is a worthy son of the puling old faker who lent his name to the national law which initiated the worst spell of bloody terror and oppression that this country has seen since the various civil commotions during and after the Civil War.

There are two other candidates, Vincent Impellitteri, Democrat and incumbent, and Harold Riegelman, a nominal and meaningless Republican.

Tammany has adopted Wagner as the regular Democratic nominee.

The mayor is running as an independent on the ticket of an improvised "Experience party." Riegelman represents all the compromises and connivances of Tom Dewey, who long ago went over to the New Deal under his washed-out Republican banners. There are, in fact, no real Republicans in the politics of the city but only, at best, Eisenhower Republicans, who include Barney Baruch and Arthur Hays Sulzberger, the publisher of the New York Times, both Roosevelt fans and New Dealers from way back. Ike let them and other New Dealers ride off a lot of actual constitutional Republicans who hadn't much hope in him anyway after listening to his indefinite remarks about "democracy" and the extension of the "benefits" of "social security" to millions who don't want to buy it.

Milwaukee and Bridgeport have had "socialist" mayors. In Milwaukee the episode was a political prank in times when the people could safely throw an egg into the electric fan for fun. In Bridgeport the socialist is just a New Dealer but with a streak of personal decency and integrity which isolates him from the Democrats of the same general persuasion. Both cities are relatively small and the menace of socialism could be contained easily by the surroundings.

But if New York goes socialist the situation will be serious. Dubinsky has a treasury of $160,000,000 for a union of no more than 425,000 needleworkers all over the country. He can do just about as he will with this enormous money power and for years he has been trying to make an empire in Europe working with Communists and socialists agents. About half of his membership is concentrated in greater New York, nearby New Jersey, Massachusetts, Connecticut and Pennsylvania. The pressure on his subjects who are voters in New York is very strong, but Dubinsky frequently loses elections nevertheless as he did in 1950 when he supported Judge Ferd Pecora against Impellitteri. Workers in the needle-shops sensed coercion, but such subtleties are cunningly devised and individuals who went complaining to lawyers waiting at Republican headquarters got no satisfaction.

Mike Quill recently held a meeting with himself and voted $100,000 for Wagner's election. Dubinsky doesn't go in for such vulgarity, but the money gets into circulation just the same. Both Halley and Wagner have the support of the Fabian Americans for Democratic Action, but in either case, Dubinsky would muscle into the city hall because he is equally compatible to both Halley and Wagner. Should Halley win, Dubinsky would keep Quill outside. As to personality, Halley is a clever fellow and a showman on his record with the Kefauver carnival wherein a few classical bums were made to act as a supporting cast for the hillbilly in the coon-tail cap and a thespian lawyer who remembered how many another nonentity got famous in a few hours defying the Forces of the Underworld.

Halley is less inhibited by scruples than even the conventional New Dealers. Wagner's standards are about the same, but he has nowhere nearly Halley's brains. Although Wagner has the Tammany indorsement, it is a

RISK OF A MEDIATOR

In many parts of the world the United States finds itself in the position of the man who steps between two other men who are fighting and has his eye blackened in the confusion. One instance of this is in the current controversy over Trieste between Italy and Yugoslavia.

Italy claims Trieste because of the fact that it is largely inhabited by Italians. Yugoslavia bases its claim on its need for the city as a port and on the fact that many of the Yugoslavs who once lived there were forced to move by Mussolini when he was dictator of Italy. There is some truth and justice on both sides.

The United States and Britain have proposed a plan which would place both Italy and Yugoslavia on an equal footing in Trieste. It is hard to see how the suggestion can be received favorably by either country in the light of their past avowed positions. The first reaction was unfavorable and both sides demonstrated against it.

The United States wants to see a peaceful solution reached. We want to keep both Italy and Yugoslavia in our camp against the Russians. In our effort to mediate the problem, however, our prestige in either or both the countries can be severely damaged. We are fast becoming aware of the problems of our new position of world leadership. The possibility of an occasional black eye, while not a pleasant prospect, is one that cannot be ignored.

In the Bar Association pamphlet, there is an appeal to a higher court and the judgment of Judge Wise is reversed. And here is the propaganda: the total abuse of the Fifth Amendment is upheld, despite the fact that that amendment to our Constitution has been used to aid spies, saboteurs, subversives, those who stole our atom bomb, the hydrogen bomb, and the defensive steps we are taking against the consequences of these thefts.

The lawyers who prepared this pamphlet do not honor it with their names.

That Body of Yours

By JAMES W. BARTON, M.D.

DUPLICATIONS OF STOMACH AND INTESTINE

A few years ago a patient accompanied by his physician went to the X-ray department of a large hospital to look over the X-ray films because of pain in lower abdomen. It was found that the patient had an extra twelve inches of large bowel which, under certain circumstances, caused considerable pain while at other times he was free of pain.

As patient and physician were looking at the film and the physician was pointing out the extra twelve inches of bowel, a professor of surgery leaned over and jokingly suggested that he remove the extra twelve incheas of bowel as this would prevent the pain which he thought must be present.

The patient looked expectantly at the physician who shook his head and said it could be removed, if necessary, as surgery could always be done but perhaps medical treatment would be sufficient. The pain and distress had been present for several months. He learned that the patient, a field mining engineer, had spent most of his time walking in the bush, paddling a canoe and carrying the canoe at times, but for the past few months had spent his time in the office making maps. During the time he was doing field work he had had no pain or distress. His physician pointed out that it was the exercise taken that prevented his symptoms and sent him to a gymnasium for regular exercise. He obtained relief from his symptoms and surgical removal of the extra twelve inches of bowel was not done.

In "Annals of Surgery," Philadelphia, Drs. J. J. Nolan and J. G. Lee report that the fact that three alimentary canals (stomach and intestines) had duplications which were observed within six months in patients from 31 to 51 years of age convinced them that these duplications were present more often in adults than had been thought.

Of the three patients whose histories were presented, one had a massive duplication of his stomach with bleeding, the second had a round or spherical duplication of the oesophagus (tube carrying food from mouth to stomach) with compression of a part of the heart, and the third had a spherical duplication of the large bowel (as in the case of the mining engineer mentioned above).

Drs. Nolan and Lee describe the type of case in which surgical treatment of the duplication is generally used. "When the duplication is associated with a portion of the alimentary tract which lends itself to surgical removal, the outcome is more likely to be favorable."

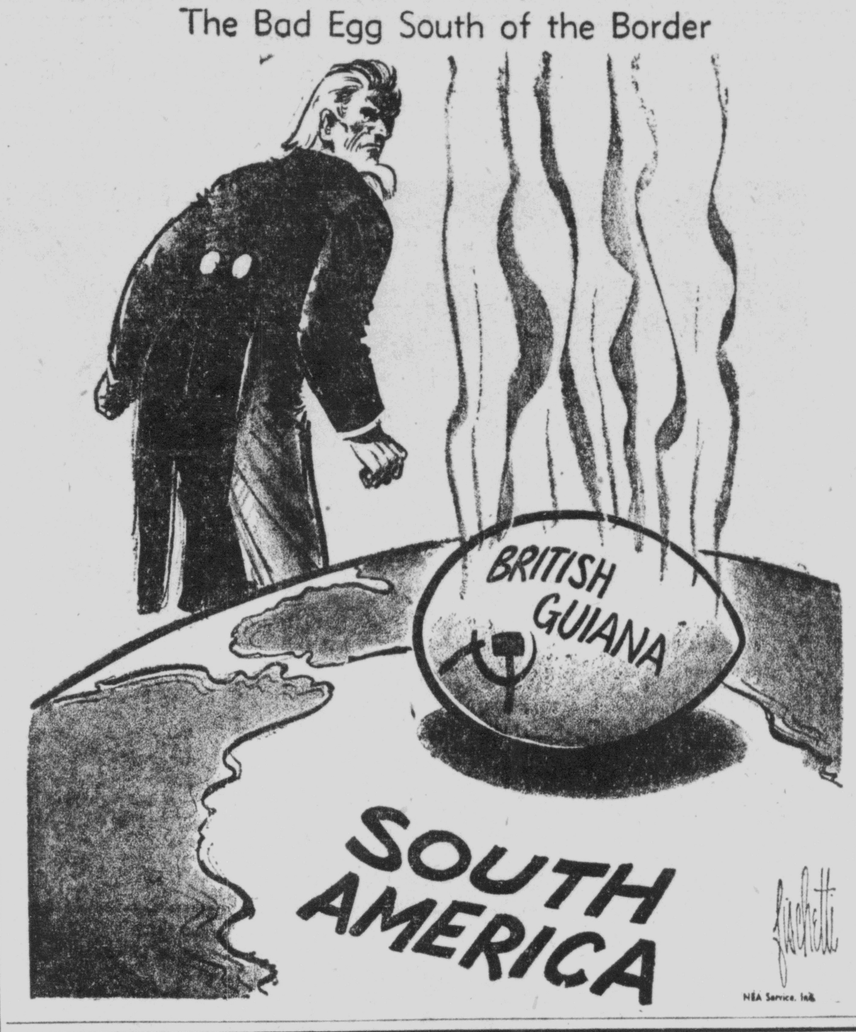
The Bad Egg South of the Border



Edson's Washington News Notebook

By PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

Washington (NEA)—The next few weeks will see an important showdown in the Eisenhower administration. The question being decided is whether to continue its policy of seeking a balanced budget.

The alternative is to abandon that program and admit that an unbalanced budget will be necessary for bolstering national defense against a possible Russian surprise attack with hydrogen bombs.

The chief spokesman for the balanced budget, for buying national defense on a cash basis, seems to be Secretary of Treasury George M. Humphrey. His philosophy was perhaps best expressed in a statement made earlier this year before a Senate appropriations subcommittee:

"What we are trying to do," he said, "is protect the American way of life. It is threatened from outside aggression. . . .

"But it can be destroyed just as readily from the inside," the secretary continued, "if we here overspend ourselves, if we badly manage our finances, if we upset our methods of living and our methods of dealing with each other. You have then destroyed our way of life. It will be just as effective a destruction. In fact—I'm not sure that it will not be total.

"It has been said many times that Stalin's whole program was to have us destroy ourselves. . . . All he had to do was keep the pressure on and we would destroy ourselves."

Policy Statement Responsible for Cutback

This has turned out to be a most profound statement of Eisenhower administration policy. This policy was responsible for the cutback in U. S. defense appropriations by $5 billion.

Even this cut was not sufficient to balance the budget this year. But it laid the foundations for balancing the budget next year, if the policy of spending no more money for defense than could be raised by taxation is continued.

This idea has come under a cloud of doubt by extreme and conflicting statements from such high administration officials as Secretary of Defense Charles E. Wilson, Defense Mobilization Director Arthur S. Flemming, Civilian Defense Administrator Val Peterson and Rep. W. Sterling Cole of New York, chairman of the Congressional Atomic Energy Commission.

Said Dr. Flemming: "Soviet Russia is capable of delivering . . . the most destructive weapon . . . on chosen targets in the U. S."

Said Secretary Wilson: "I think it is stretching it a bit to say they have that ability right now." He put it three years off.

Said Governor Peterson: "I am assuming no one has the hydrogen bomb yet." But he made a plea for a vast network of U. S. underground shelters to cost from $12 billion to $90 billion.

Chairman Cole advocated unbalancing the budget, if necessary, to provide for adequate U. S. defenses. But he put the cost at from $15 to $20 billion over a three-to-five year period.

In a less noticed and less sensational statement, Defense Mobilizer Flemming reported the U. S. is already spending $4 billion a year on continental defense.

Crisis Deals With U. S. Spending Into Destruction

Anything beyond that would therefore unbalance the budget and lead to deficit financing for national defense. And there you come face to face with the question of whether the U. S. can be spent into total destruction just as easily as it can be bombed into destruction.

This is Washington's latest crisis. It may have been caused unconsciously by one of President Eisenhower's own statements at his Sept. 30 press conference.

He said then that when he got this whole subject properly sorted out in his mind, he would go before the people to tell them frankly the facts and his own conclusions.

This uncertainty of the President's seems to have given some of his principal subordinates the opportunity to go shouting off in all directions in support of their own ideas and theories.

President Eisenhower has shown the ability to stop a lot of speculative discussion with a simple statement. But his October 8 press conference cleared the air only partially. It silenced cabinet officers and others who have been shooting off their mouths too freely. But the President left up in the air the question of greater defense spending or budget balancing next year. These matters are still to be threshed out in the National Security Council.

White House Has Right to Be Concerned Over Outcome of Wisconsin Voting

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Oct. 15 (AP) — The White House might well be concerned about the defeat experienced by the Republican nominee for Congress in the Ninth District in Wisconsin.

For, when only 21,000 Republicans go to the polls this time, as compared with 81,000 who voted Republican in the same district eleven months ago, there is something to be explained. The late Senator Taft used to say again and again that when Republicans stay at home in large numbers, it's either because they don't care which nominee wins or because they are overconfident about the outcome anyway.

There was, of course, much disaffection over the farm issue, particularly the drop in farm income which started under the Truman administration but which operates against the Republican party because it's in power today. To say, however, that the farm question is the only reason for the defeat of the Republican nominee is to ignore the trend in that same district heretofore. The late Merlin Hull, who was a La Follette Republican, got the benefit of both the radical and conservative votes in the Republican party and in November 1950 he got 60,000 Republican votes, while the Democratic nominee got about 25,000. This was an off-year election—that is, there was no presidential ticket in the field.

A comparison can also be made with 1946, when Mr. Hull got 70,000 votes and had virtually no opposition. Fewer than 1,000 votes were cast for the other candidate, who was a Socialist.

Back in 1944 the same thing happened when Mr. Hull, running as a Progressive, got 48,000 votes agaist 736 for his Sociaist opposition. But in 1942, as a Progressive, Mr. Hull got 38,000 votes while the regular Republican polled about 20,000.

So the ninth Wisconsin district hasn't been a clear-cut example of a straight-out Republican and Democratic fight. The late Representative Hull was a New Deal Republican and in the last Congress often voted against the Eisenhower administration.

The Republican nominee this time, State Senator Arthur Padrutt, was a regular organization man who promised to support the Eisenhower administration. He got 21,000 votes. His opponent, the successful Lester Johnson, who promised to vote in Congress as the late Mr. Hull did, got 28,000. The combined vote was only 40 per cent of the 1952 total. Obviously some Republicans who wanted to register a protest on farm policies went over to the Democratic side this time but most of the regular Republicans—who probably voted heavily for President Eisenhower last November and would have favored Padrutt—did not come out to vote at all. This was either because they were confident the district would go Republican anyway or because they weren't much concerned with the issues—nobody had aroused them.

The Democratic national campaign committee thought enough of the special election to send in some of its prominent speakers—former Secretaries of Agriculture Brannan and Wickard, Senator Kefauver and others. The Republican national campaign managers didn't take the contest seriously enough to get out the vote.

Now it could be that many of the regular Republicans stayed away because they, too, have lost some of their enthusiasm for the Eisenhower administration. If this is so, it is going to be very important for the White House to begin to worry a lot more about the regular Republicans it may be losing than about the New Deal Democrats it seems to be angling for in some of its policies.

The moral of the Wisconsin election for the Democrats is to keep hammering away on the assumption that the Republicans will not get out their vote, and the moral for the Republicans is that they will lose many a district in November, 1954, if they take it for granted that they can allow a substantial defection without offsetting it by getting the stay-at-home Republicans to go to the polls.

A total of 124,000 people voted in November, 1952 for a congressional candidate in the 9th Wisconsin District. This week both parties there cast a total of less than 50,000 votes. One would think an election to choose a member of Congress would be as important today as it was 11 months ago. It was the smallest total vote since the late Representative Hull ran virtually unopposed in 1944.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

The voters of the city of New York actually have a responsibility in the impending election which is far beyond the vision and understanding of most of them. In this case, it is up to them to decide in a lukewarm election of a mayor whether European socialism shall capture its first great political beachhead in this country.

There are two candidates of the Marxian Socialist movement, both heavily financed by typical, tyrannical unions with enormous political slush-funds. The Garment Workers, under David Dubinsky, supports Rudolph Halley, who has unconditionally acknowledged his debt to Dubinsky for his election to his present job of president of the city council. The CIO Transport Workers' Union, under Mike Quill, is backing Robert F. Wagner, Jr. This Wagner is a worthy son of the puling old faker who lent his name to the national law which initiated the worst spell of bloody terror and oppression that this country has seen since the various civil commotions during and after the Civil War.

There are two other candidates, Vincent Impellitteri, Democrat and incumbent, and Harold Riegelman, a nominal and meaningless Republican.

Tammany has adopted Wagner as the regular Democratic nominee.

The mayor is running as an independent on the ticket of an improvised "Experience party." Riegelman represents all the compromises and connivances of Tom Dewey, who long ago went over to the New Deal under his washed-out Republican banners. There are, in fact, no real Republicans in the politics of the city but only, at best, Eisenhower Republicans, who include Barney Baruch and Arthur Hays Sulzberger, the publisher of the New York Times, both Roosevelt fans and New Dealers from way back. Ike let them and other New Dealers ride off a lot of actual constitutional Republicans who hadn't much hope in him anyway after listening to his indefinite remarks about "democracy" and the extension of the "benefits" of "social security" to millions who don't want to buy it.

Milwaukee and Bridgeport have had "socialist" mayors. In Milwaukee the episode was a political prank in times when the people could safely throw an egg into the electric fan for fun. In Bridgeport the socialist is just a New Dealer but with a streak of personal decency and integrity which isolates him from the Democrats of the same general persuasion. Both cities are relatively small and the menace of socialism could be contained easily by the surroundings.

But if New York goes socialist the situation will be serious. Dubinsky has a treasury of $160,000,000 for a union of no more than 425,000 needleworkers all over the country. He can do just about as he will with this enormous money power and for years he has been trying to make an empire in Europe working with Communists and socialists agents. About half of his membership is concentrated in greater New York, nearby New Jersey, Massachusetts, Connecticut and Pennsylvania. The pressure on his subjects who are voters in New York is very strong, but Dubinsky frequently loses elections nevertheless as he did in 1950 when he supported Judge Ferd Pecora against Impellitteri. Workers in the needle-shops sensed coercion, but such subtleties are cunningly devised and individuals who went complaining to lawyers waiting at Republican headquarters got no satisfaction.

Mike Quill recently held a meeting with himself and voted $100,000 for Wagner's election. Dubinsky doesn't go in for such vulgarity, but the money gets into circulation just the same. Both Halley and Wagner have the support of the Fabian Americans for Democratic Action, but in either case, Dubinsky would muscle into the city hall because he is equally compatible to both Halley and Wagner. Should Halley win, Dubinsky would keep Quill outside. As to personality, Halley is a clever fellow and a showman on his record with the Kefauver carnival wherein a few classical bums were made to act as a supporting cast for the hillbilly in the coon-tail cap and a thespian lawyer who remembered how many another nonentity got famous in a few hours defying the Forces of the Underworld.

Halley is less inhibited by scruples than even the conventional New Dealers. Wagner's standards are about the same, but he has nowhere nearly Halley's brains. Although Wagner has the Tammany indorsement, it is a paradox that the only actual Democrat in the contest is the mayor himself, who got himself turned down by the Democratic machine for fighting the surviving crooks of the rotten O'Dwyer regime at the hall.

Quill has tried to "organize" the 19,000 New York police into a CIO union, subject to his own control, which would happen if Wagner were elected. Impellitteri has turned him back so far, the only mayor who has fought Mike.

These pastorals have proved that Dubinsky spends money taken from his ill-paid needleworkers to support a gang of voluptuous loafers in Europe, including a onetime Soviet Communist named Irving Brown, and that during the war his union hosed money into "underground" action on the continent. No account was ever given. The audacity of this adventure far beyond the utmost legitimate function of an American Labor Union pleased rather than revolted Eisenhower, who even got his central intelligence agency to play along with Dubinsky's imperial scheme. Dubinsky's political chief in the home office is the old Kremlin Red, Jay Lovestone, who finally broke with Moscow but remained a communist nevertheless.

The ADA has maintained close political cooperation with the Fabian Socialist movement in Britain, which achieved power under the so-called labor party and completed the national economic disaster. One David Williams, an American, spent a year batting around Britain as a political agent for ADA and liaison with the British Socialists. He is now doing conventional soporifics for Dubinsky's house-organ called by the ironic name of "justice."

Impellitteri is absolutely up against it for money, and would receive with grace and gratitude any contributions that anti-Socialist citizens care to drop in his drum no matter where they live. This is a peculiar situation wherein the unions are threatening the American beach with a European system of government which has failed everywhere, backed by a power of money without example in a similar political contest. The case is similar to that of Senator Joe McCarthy in his primary campaign last summer which brought thousands of small gifts from individuals all over the country. Impellitteri frankly appeals for help. The address is Sam Briskman, treasurer, 270 Park avenue, New York.

Supervisors to Meet

A meeting of the board of supervisors will be held Monday evening, October 19, at 8 o'clock at the court house. The board probably will take action on awarding a contract for the town of Denning bridge which was recently sought. Another item which probably will come up for discussion and action is the supervision of the recently completed parking area off John street in which parking meters were installed after the parking grounds had been rebuilt. With the installation of parking meters it will be necessary to have the area policed in order to enforce the parking regulations.

SHOKAN NEWS

Shokan, Oct. 14—Margit Medal of Sheldon Hill road was a caller in the village Monday while en route to Oneonta where she is a student at State Teachers College. The KHS 1953 May Queen had been spending the weekend with her South Olive relatives.

The Olive District 1 registration roll as it now stands reveals the names of 498 potential voters of whom 258 are females. The total represents a gain of 26 over that of five years ago when the ratio of males to females was 226 to 246.

Mrs. Ray Williams, Keansburg, N. J., matron and summer resident of Woodland Valley Park, was a caller here the latter part of the week. Mrs. Williams was bound for Kingston where she planned to attend a Home Bureau lesson on re-seating antique kitchen chairs.

Willard Rynders of the west end has completed a roof and porch repainting job for Emily and Marvin Greene. The Greenes having sold most of their farm land, expect to move to West Hurley where they reportedly have bought a house.

Mrs. Oscar Ganter and son, Emmett, of Poughkeepsie, were at their old state road place over the weekend.

Having a birthday Thursday, Oct. 15, is Mrs. Bernard Casablanca, village center summer resident. Carmella who lives with her husband and son, Vincent, in Washington Heights, attended Barnard College and studied music at Columbia University.

One of the many interested visitors to the corner store museum of antiques Saturday was Arthur Dean, one time Ulster and Delaware railway mail clerk. Dean's signature on mail slips was as familiar as the day's work to postmasters between Kingston and Bloomville, the Delaware county terminus of the line, in days before the waterworks when the mountain communities teemed with summer boarders. Dean during his 44 years of service was very much in touch with developments in the U & D territory; he recalls, in humorous vein, that "they first ran the road up to Stamford, then to Bloomville, and finally spoiled it all by going on over the mountains to Oneonta."

Walter Rickards of Oakchard, Del., is visiting his relatives, the Martin Gulnack family. He has recently been ill in a hospital for several weeks and Mrs. Gulnack, a member of the local election board, has returned home after being with him for a time in Delaware.

Henry Gebelein who for the past year has been building a house for his daughter, Mrs. Theodore Carlson, on Van Steemeburgh road is now putting the finishing touches to a front porch of creek cobblestones and broken flag on the north side of the dwelling.

Delta Fromer, Albany avenue antiques dealer and native of Olive, was a caller in the hub of the reservoir country Saturday. Younger daughter of Zadoc Pratt Boice, one time sheriff and local lumberman, she was brought up in West Shokan.

As Pegler Sees It

paradox that the only actual Democrat in the contest is the mayor himself, who got himself turned down by the Democratic machine for fighting the surviving crooks of the rotten O'Dwyer regime at the hall.

Quill has tried to "organize" the 19,000 New York police into a CIO union, subject to his own control, which would happen if Wagner were elected. Impellitteri has turned him back so far, the only mayor who has fought Mike.

These pastorals have proved that Dubinsky spends money taken from his ill-paid needleworkers to support a gang of voluptuous loafers in Europe, including a onetime Soviet Communist named Irving Brown, and that during the war his union hosed money into "underground" action on the continent. No account was ever given. The audacity of this adventure far beyond the utmost legitimate function of an American Labor Union pleased rather than revolted Eisenhower, who even got his central intelligence agency to play along with Dubinsky's imperial scheme. Dubinsky's political chief in the home office is the old Kremlin Red, Jay Lovestone, who finally broke with Moscow but remained a communist nevertheless.

The ADA has maintained close political cooperation with the Fabian Socialist movement in Britain, which achieved power under the so-called labor party and completed the national economic disaster. One David Williams, an American, spent a year batting around Britain as a political agent for ADA and liaison with the British Socialists. He is now doing conventional soporifics for Dubinsky's house-organ called by the ironic name of "justice."

Impellitteri is absolutely up against it for money, and would receive with grace and gratitude any contributions that anti-Socialist citizens care to drop in his drum no matter where they live. This is a peculiar situation wherein the unions are threatening the American beach with a European system of government which has failed everywhere, backed by a power of money without example in a similar political contest. The case is similar to that of Senator Joe McCarthy in his primary campaign last summer which brought thousands of small gifts from individuals all over the country. Impellitteri frankly appeals for help. The address is Sam Briskman, treasurer, 270 Park avenue, New York.

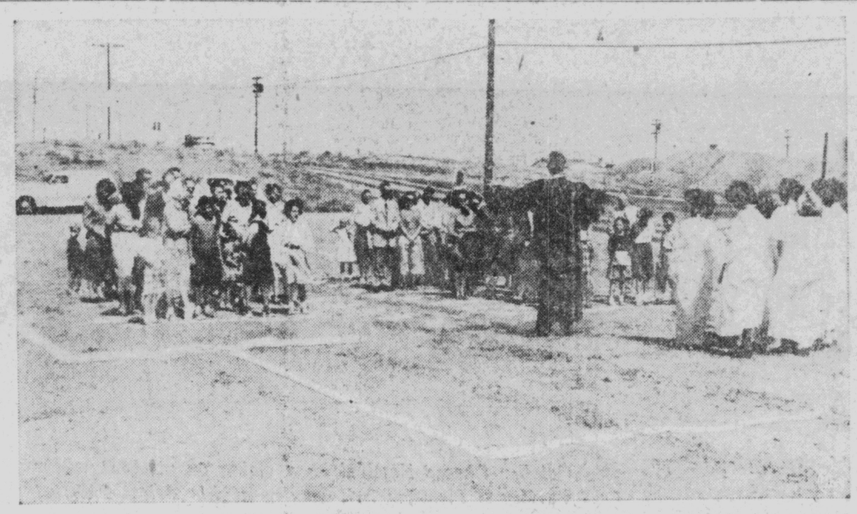
Supervisors to Meet

A meeting of the board of supervisors will be held Monday evening, October 19, at 8 o'clock at the court house. The board probably will take action on awarding a contract for the town of Denning bridge which was recently sought. Another item which probably will come up for discussion and action is the supervision of the recently completed parking area off John street in which parking meters were installed after the parking grounds had been rebuilt. With the installation of parking meters it will be necessary to have the area policed in order to enforce the parking regulations.

You can remove onion odor from your hands by rubbing them with a stick of celery.



EMPTY LOT, BUT SOUL IS FULL—Members of the St. Andrews Presbyterian Church in San Diego, Calif., aren't waiting for their church to be erected before they hold their services. They met on the proposed site, the church was marked off in chalk and the worshipers marched in through the "door." The Rev. George Lokie leads the singing.

SHOKAN NEWS

Shokan, Oct. 14—Margit Medal of Sheldon Hill road was a caller in the village Monday while en route to Oneonta where she is a student at State Teachers College. The KHS 1953 May Queen had been spending the weekend with her South Olive relatives.

The Olive District 1 registration roll as it now stands reveals the names of 498 potential voters of whom 258 are females. The total represents a gain of 26 over that of five years ago when the ratio of males to females was 226 to 246.

Mrs. Ray Williams, Keansburg, N. J., matron and summer resident of Woodland Valley Park, was a caller here the latter part of the week. Mrs. Williams was bound for Kingston where she planned to attend a Home Bureau lesson on re-seating antique kitchen chairs.

Willard Rynders of the west end has completed a roof and porch repainting job for Emily and Marvin Greene. The Greenes having sold most of their farm land, expect to move to West Hurley where they reportedly have bought a house.

Mrs. Oscar Ganter and son, Emmett, of Poughkeepsie, were at their old state road place over the weekend.

Having a birthday Thursday, Oct. 15, is Mrs. Bernard Casablanca, village center summer resident. Carmella who lives with her husband and son, Vincent, in Washington Heights, attended Barnard College and studied music at Columbia University.

One of the many interested visitors to the corner store museum of antiques Saturday was Arthur Dean, one time Ulster and Delaware railway mail clerk. Dean's signature on mail slips was as familiar as the day's work to postmasters between Kingston and Bloomville, the Delaware county terminus of the line, in days before the waterworks when the mountain communities teemed with summer boarders. Dean during his 44 years of service was very much in touch with developments in the U & D territory; he recalls, in humorous vein, that "they first ran the road up to Stamford, then to Bloomville, and finally spoiled it all by going on over the mountains to Oneonta."

Walter Rickards of Oak Orchard, Del., is visiting his relatives, the Martin Gulnack family. He has recently been ill in a hospital for several weeks and Mrs. Gulnack, a member of the local election board, has returned home after being with him for a time in Delaware.

Henry Gebelein who for the past year has been building a house for his daughter, Mrs. Theodore Carlson, on Van Steemeburgh road is now putting the finishing touches to a front porch of creek cobblestones and broken flag on the north side of the dwelling.

Delta Fromer, Albany avenue antiques dealer and native of Olive, was a caller in the hub of the reservoir country Saturday. Younger daughter of Zadoc Pratt Boice, one time sheriff and local lumberman, she was brought up in West Shokan.

Six County Drivers Cited for Violations

Motor Vehicle Commissioner James R. Macduff today released a list of driver license and motor vehicle registration revocations and suspensions involving six Ulster county motorists during the last half of September.

Two of the six, according to the commissioner's report, had their licenses revoked for leaving the scene of accidents. They were identified as Charles M. Lake, 36, of Marlborough, as of August 10 and Abram L. Johnson, 49, of Kerhonkson, Sept. 29.

Four county motorists also had their registrations suspended temporarily pending investigation for unlicensed operation conviction.

Commissioner Macduff announced these as Robert Carey, 18, 63 Newkirk avenue, Sept. 16; Josseph S. Simon, 25, 177 Green street, Sept. 28; John C. Burger, 24, 43 Warren street, Ellenville, Sept. 28 and Milton O. Daskal, 31, Box 261, Kerhonkson, Sept. 29.

Local Delegation To Attend Jewish Parley in Albany

The Jewish Community Council of Kingston will be represented by a delegation at a two-day conference in Albany to discuss established principles in central community planning and fund raising; new and continuing problems and how they can best be handled.

This was announced today by Murray M. Sklar, executive director of the Jewish Community Center, who is making reservations for those desiring to accompany the delegation, led by Herman Eaton, president of the local council.

The Albany event, 18th annual regional conference of the New York and National Region of the Council of Jewish Federations and Welfare Funds, is scheduled Saturday evening and all day Sunday, at the DeWitt Clinton Hotel. Prominent Jewish leaders will speak.

Saturday's session will be on Jewish Community Organization Today.

Three Sessions

Sunday morning, there will be three concurrent workshop sessions. The first of these will consider concrete programs for developing new Jewish communal leadership and retaining the interest and participation of the present leadership.

The second workshop session will be held for delegates interested in developing good year-round local community relations programs.

A third workshop session will be held for representatives of the Jewish family and children's agencies in the region will analyze the current trends and problems being faced by those agencies and consider possible future directions.

To Report on Israel

A high spot of the two-day conference will be the Sunday afternoon meeting at which Philip Bernstein, associate director of the CJFWF, will present the up to date facts on the situations overseas and in Israel and the relationship thereto of the Jewish communities in America.

The Council of Jewish Federations and Welfare Funds is the national association serving 800 Jewish communities in the United States and Canada as their instrument in dealing with national problems and in providing central services in budgeting, community organization, campaigning, social planning and community interpretation. The New York-Ontario Region is one of eight regions of the CJFWF.

Pope Gives Rebuke

Vatican City, Oct. 15 (AP)—In his sternest rebuke of atheistic communism since he became Pope 14 years ago, Pius XII today bitterly assailed the action taken by Poland against Stefan Cardinal Wyszynski. He said that "innumerable testimonies" of protest were coming to him daily from all parts of the earth. "We raise our own most sorrowful and most firm protest against this violation of the sacred rights of the Catholic Church," the Pope declared.

New plans call for an addition on the north side of the present firehouse on the Schryver property. This will be about 33 by 37 feet in size and two stories in height. Entrance to the firehouse meeting rooms, which will be located in the new building on the second floor, will be from Broadway. The kitchens and rest rooms will be in the old structure where the meeting room is now located. There will be two stairways and exits to the new meeting rooms.

The ground floor of the present building will be incorporated into the space for fire apparatus and at the rear will be the furnace room and men's room. Forced hot air heat will be installed. Hudson river brick will be used to face the building.

Some time ago the fire district acquired a second piece of equipment and additional space was needed to house it. The new firehouse will have ample space for the present small truck as well as the new larger truck.

Professor—Ah.

Doctor—It looks all right, but why the postage stamp?

Professor—Oh, ho! So that's where I left it!

Ed — Ain't them beautiful flowers?

Ted—Yep. Have you gone to seed them yet?

John—Have any of your childhood wishes come true to your regret?

Don—Yeah, one of 'em. When I was a kid my mother kept me in long curls till I was seven. I used to wish then that I didn't have any hair.

Girl—We gotta do somethin' about grandmaw smoking. She inhales.

Doctor—Nothing so terrible about that. Plenty of women inhale nowadays.

Girl—You don't understand. Grandmaw don't exhale!

Why We Say--

BITTER END

The "bitter end" comes from two small fixtures on the decks of ships which are called bitts. When a boat is at anchor, a cable is stretched and at the end of the cable are bitts . . . so naturally when the ship goes to the extreme limit of its anchor cable, it is at the "bitter end."

Class Is Planned To Teach English, History to Aliens

A class in Americanization is to be offered at New Paltz High School, according to Frederick C. Dippel, director of adult education, who said it is designed for adults who have recently come to the United States, and are anxious to become citizens.

The course will stress the English language, history, customs and goverment of the U. S.

Dippel said that those without skill in use of English should not feel self-conscious about joining the class because they will be associated with many under the same circumstance.

It is felt that the course will make many who have come to this country feel more at home in their new land and help them get past some of the obstacles that confront them in starting life in a strange land.

Dippel suggests that anyone in the area, knowing an adult who might benefit from the course, urge that person to enroll. Information is available on the class at New Paltz High School, phone 6211.

SENDING ANNOUNCEMENTS

A mother tells me: "My daughter was recently married abroad. In compiling the list of friends and relatives to be sent wedding announcements, I did not include those living in town, as an announcement of the marriage was put in the local newspaper. I assumed that this announcement, which was undoubtedly seen by all, was sufficient and that an engraved announcement would be superfluous and might furthermore seem like a bid for wedding presents. Am I correct in my assumption, or would it be proper to send them announcements too?"

Correctly all acquaintances (business and social both) who were not invited to the wedding receive announcements. The announcement in the paper has nothing to do with personal friends and is intended for the public. And in any case, the receipt of a wedding announcement is never an obligation to send a present.

Paying Respects

Dear Mrs. Post: Recently one of our woman's club members died and several of us went to the funeral home to pay our respects. Members of the family were seated up front, but not one of them came forward to meet us. I thought this was very strange as I have always been met by a member of the family whenever I went to a funeral home before and it is certainly much nicer than to be left floundering around awkwardly. In telling this to a friend of mine, she said that they were perfectly right in remaining seated. I would very much like to have your opinion.

Answer: It would be very strange to have a member of the family receive anyone. Generally a friend of the family or the funeral director shows people where to sit but no one "receives."

Second Wedding

Dear Mrs. Post: (1) Is it proper to refer to a woman who has just been married for the second time as a "bride?" (2) Also, when does a newly married young woman cease to be a "bride?"

Answer: (1) Yes, certainly. (2) At the end of the first year.

Certificate of Doubt Received in Case On Cattle Theft

Harold C. Rhodes, 36-year-old town of East Fishkill farm operator who was convicted of the "mystery novel" first degree grand larceny charge last November in Dutchess county court involving an alleged theft of 12 cows and heifers from the farm of Mrs. Favoretta DeMatteo, is free under $3,500 bail today on a certificate of reasonable doubt pending appeal of the case.

Philip Korn, Kerhonkson attorney, appeared for Rhodes who insisted at the trial last year that the cows had been destroyed in a fire which burned the barns on the Gladys Ryan farm in the town of Clinton on February 20, 1952.

Case in Brooklyn

Rhodes was sentenced to 1½ to 3 years in prison on December 23, 1952. He was released from Wallkill Prison Wednesday in custody of a deputy sheriff and with Attorney Korn appeared in court. He recently received a certificate of reasonable doubt from Supreme Court Justice Eager of Brooklyn who also granted a motion of Korn to permit Rhodes to submit typewritten copies of his case on appeal rather than the usual printed copies to eliminate expense. The appeal from the Dutchess county conviction will be argued in Brooklyn on November 2. Meanwhile he will be under $3,500 bail.

Dodgers Lack Manager

Brooklyn, Oct. 15 (AP)—Neither Charlie Dressen nor Walter O'Malley had changed their minds today and so the Brooklyn Dodgers still were without a manager. The two parted official company yesterday when Dressen, who managed the team to a pair of National League pennants the past two years, insisted on a two-year pact. O'Malley, owner of the club, refused to offer Dressen more than a one-year contract. The Journal-American today said that Dressen would remain with the Dodgers but the Brooklyn baseball office said that there had been no change. O'Malley is holding the job open for a week in hopes that Dressen will reconsider.

Certificate of Doubt Received in Case On Cattle Theft

Harold C. Rhodes, 36-year-old town of East Fishkill farm operator who was convicted of the "mystery novel" first degree grand larceny charge last November in Dutchess county court involving an alleged theft of 12 cows and heifers from the farm of Mrs. Favoretta DeMatteo, is free under $3,500 bail today on a certificate of reasonable doubt pending appeal of the case.

Philip Korn, Kerhonkson attorney, appeared for Rhodes who insisted at the trial last year that the cows had been destroyed in a fire which burned the barns on the Gladys Ryan farm in the town of Clinton on February 20, 1952.

Case in Brooklyn

Rhodes was sentenced to 1½ to 3 years in prison on December 23, 1952. He was released from Wallkill Prison Wednesday in custody of a deputy sheriff and with Attorney Korn appeared in court. He recently received a certificate of reasonable doubt from Supreme Court Justice Eager of Brooklyn who also granted a motion of Korn to permit Rhodes to submit typewritten copies of his case on appeal rather than the usual printed copies to eliminate expense. The appeal from the Dutchess county conviction will be argued in Brooklyn on November 2. Meanwhile he will be under $3,500 bail.

Onteora School Is To Be Represented At State Meeting

Record-breaking attendance is expected at the 21st Annual Convention of the New York State School Boards Association in Syracuse, Oct. 25-27. Onteora Central School Board President Lester Shultis, Wittenberg, said yesterday that the local board will be represented by the following: Fred Curé, Pine Hill; Philip Gordon, Phoenicia; Mrs. Edna Bishop, West Shokan, and John H. Moehle, supervising principal of the school district.

One of the highlights of the three-day session will be the presentation of the Association's Distinguished Service Award by Dr. Lewis A. Wilson, commissioner of education. Awarded annually to one school board member in New York state, the citation recognizes loyal and notably outstanding service at the community level. The distinguished service committee consists of Chairman Charles A. Upson, Lockport; Ernest W. Robillard, Wynantskill, and Clarence S. Rowland, Kingston.

The keynote address, The Three R's—and What More?, will be delivered at the opening session Sunday afternoon by Dr. Robert W. McEwen. The 14th president of Hamilton College since 1812, Dr. McEwen is a native of Nebraska and a graduate of Macalester College.

Panels Are Scheduled

A well-rounded program includes excellent speakers as well as outstanding leaders in educational and public service fields. Panels of professionally distinguished men will highlight the daily sessions with discussions of subjects pertinent to public education and its problems including: Financing Public Education, How to Develop School Board Leadership in New York State and School Design.

It is estimated that approximately 2,800 school board members and school officials will be in Syracuse for the three-day event which will take place in the new Onondaga County War Memorial Auditorium. 100 major companies from all parts of the country will be represented in the most extensive exhibit of school supplies and equipment ever brought together in New York state.

Through conferences and meetings such as the one forthcoming, the association lays the foundation for state-wide educational improvements and provides the opportunity for local board members to rub elbows with hundreds of other school board members and to exchange ideas and experiences with them.

With a membership of 844 school districts, the New York State School Boards Association coordinates the activities and interests of school boards and trustees throughout the state.

Mary K. Brod of New Rochelle, association president, will officiate at all meetings.

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

Goes Sky High—Makes a Contract

BY OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

"Don't roast me over the coals for the bidding," my friend Arthur Goldsmith pleaded when he gave me the hand shown today. "I stretched a bit, my partner stretched a bit more, and then we both stretched together. Anyway, we got a bit too high."

I gave my word, so naturally I can't say anything about the very skimpy hand for the opening bid of one no-trump. If I hadn't promised, I'd say that a skimpy hand like that should pass the merely invitational bid of two no-trump.

But I won't say it, largely because Arthur is one of the best bridge players in the country, and if he feels like stretching a hand he can usually find some way to make his contract.

Opening lead—♣ 2

Arthur got his first break when West opened the deuce of clubs. Nobody had bid the suit, and it seemed quite safe. It just shows how deceptive appearances can be. If West had opened a spade, there wouldn't have been a happy ending to this story.

East won the first trick with the ace of clubs and returned the three of spades. Goldsmith won with the jack of spades and considered his resources. He could take one spade, one heart, two diamonds, and four clubs. Eight tricks available, with one trick to go.

South quite wisely decided to run the clubs. The opponents might have trouble or give valuable information.

They did both. East had to find four discards on the long clubs, and the effort strained both his hand and his disposition. He could afford one diamond and one heart. Then the going got tough. After some thought, he parted with a second heart. And after still more thought, he parted with a low spade.

Goldsmith saw the signs of trouble and could tell exactly what was going on. Evidently East had nothing worth saving in hearts, but was worried about spades and diamonds. So he threw a couple of hearts, cashed the ace of hearts, and led the king of spades!

East could take the three spades that he had managed to save, but then he had to get out with a diamond. It did East no good to lead the jack of diamonds, for he had already given his hand away. Goldsmith won in dummy with the ace of diamonds and confidently finessed through the queen of diamonds to make his contract.

KIDNEYS MUST REMOVE EXCESS WASTE

Nagging backache, loss of pep and energy, headaches and dizziness may be due to slow-down of kidney function. Doctors say good kidney function is very important to good health. When some everyday condition, such as stress and strain, causes this important function to slow down, many folks suffer nagging backache—feel miserable. Minor bladder irritations due to cold or wrong diet may cause getting up nights or frequent passages.

Don't neglect your kidneys if these conditions bother you. Try Doan's Pills—a mild diuretic. Used successfully by millions for over 50 years. Onteora School Is To Be Represented At State Meeting

Record-breaking attendance is expected at the 21st Annual Convention of the New York State School Boards Association in Syracuse, Oct. 25-27. Onteora Central School Board President Lester Shultis, Wittenberg, said yesterday that the local board will be represented by the following: Fred Curé, Pine Hill; Philip Gordon, Phoenicia; Mrs. Edna Bishop, West Shokan, and John H. Moehle, supervising principal of the school district.

One of the highlights of the three-day session will be the presentation of the Association's Distinguished Service Award by Dr. Lewis A. Wilson, commissioner of education. Awarded annually to one school board member in New York state, the citation recognizes loyal and notably outstanding service at the community level. The distinguished service committee consists of Chairman Charles A. Upson, Lockport; Ernest W. Robillard, Wynantskill, and Clarence S. Rowland, Kingston.

The keynote address, The Three R's—and What More?, will be delivered at the opening session Sunday afternoon by Dr. Robert W. McEwen. The 14th president of Hamilton College since 1812, Dr. McEwen is a native of Nebraska and a graduate of Macalester College.

Panels Are Scheduled

A well-rounded program includes excellent speakers as well as outstanding leaders in educational and public service fields. Panels of professionally distinguished men will highlight the daily sessions with discussions of subjects pertinent to public education and its problems including: Financing Public Education, How to Develop School Board Leadership in New York State and School Design.

It is estimated that approximately 2,800 school board members and school officials will be in Syracuse for the three-day event which will take place in the new Onondaga County War Memorial Auditorium. 100 major companies from all parts of the country will be represented in the most extensive exhibit of school supplies and equipment ever brought together in New York state.

Through conferences and meetings such as the one forthcoming, the association lays the foundation for state-wide educational improvements and provides the opportunity for local board members to rub elbows with hundreds of other school board members and to exchange ideas and experiences with them.

With a membership of 844 school districts, the New York State School Boards Association coordinates the activities and interests of school boards and trustees throughout the state.

Mary K. Brod of New Rochelle, association president, will officiate at all meetings.

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

Goes Sky High—Makes a Contract

BY OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

"Don't roast me over the coals for the bidding," my friend Arthur Goldsmith pleaded when he gave me the hand shown today. "I stretched a bit, my partner stretched a bit more, and then we both stretched together. Anyway, we got a bit too high."

I gave my word, so naturally I can't say anything about the very skimpy hand for the opening bid of one no-trump. If I hadn't promised, I'd say that a skimpy hand like that should pass the merely invitational bid of two no-trump.

But I won't say it, largely because Arthur is one of the best bridge players in the country, and if he feels like stretching a hand he can usually find some way to make his contract.

Arthur got his first break when West opened the deuce of clubs. Nobody had bid the suit, and it seemed quite safe. It just shows how deceptive appearances can be. If West had opened a spade, there wouldn't have been a happy ending to this story.

East won the first trick with the ace of clubs and returned the three of spades. Goldsmith won with the jack of spades and considered his resources. He could take one spade, one heart, two diamonds, and four clubs. Eight tricks available, with one trick to go.

South quite wisely decided to run the clubs. The opponents might have trouble or give valuable information.

They did both. East had to find four discards on the long clubs, and the effort strained both his hand and his disposition. He could afford one diamond and one heart. Then the going got tough. After some thought, he parted with a second heart. And after still more thought, he parted with a low spade.

Goldsmith saw the signs of trouble and could tell exactly what was going on. Evidently East had nothing worth saving in hearts, but was worried about spades and diamonds. So he threw a couple of hearts, cashed the ace of hearts, and led the king of spades!

East could take the three spades that he had managed to save, but then he had to get out with a diamond. It did East no good to lead the jack of diamonds, for he had already given his hand away. Goldsmith won in dummy with the ace of diamonds and confidently finessed through the queen of diamonds to make his contract.

Good News for Cars: Georgia Ends Traps

Savannah, Ga., Oct. 15 (AP)—Gov. Herman Talmadge has threatened to revoke city charters of Georgia speed traps towns.

The governor yesterday told a representative of the American Automobile Association he would use the state patrol to correct speed trap situations and that he would revoke city charters if all other measures failed.

AAA Representative Michael Frome told Talmadge that his organization got more complaints from drivers about Georgia than any other state.

UNCLE EF

One thing in favor of some of the little ranch-type houses they throw together overnight, says Plez Thurman, is that they have no basement so a big man hasn't far to fall if the floor gives way.

May Take Long Leave

Tel Aviv, Israel, Oct. 15 (AP)—Israeli Prime Minister David Ben-Gurion reportedly is thinking of taking a prolonged leave of absence from official life. Political sources said the 68-year-old premier, head of Israel's government since the Jewish state was proclaimed in 1948, was considering at least temporary retirement both because of health reasons and differences within his coalition cabinet and his social democratic party, the Mapai.

Canary Birds

When Canary birds were first exported from the Canary Islands for pets during the 16th Century, Spain tried and filed to maintain a monopoly of the trade by exporting only males.

WALLKILL NEWS

Wallkill, Oct. 14—The Ladies' Auxiliary of Rose-Sheeley Post 1934, Wallkill held its regular meeting Monday night, in the Legion rooms. A regular meeting of Rose-Sheeley Post 1034, Wallkill, was held in the post rooms last night at 8 o'clock. On Saturday, Oct. 17, the Post will entertain its Ladies' Auxiliary at the annual dinner dance. This will be held at the Cobblestone Inn, Walker Valley. Dinner will be served at 7 p. m. with dancing to follow. Reservations must be made with the committee by October 14.

At a recent regular meeting of the Wallkill Fire Company, much discussion was held on the conduct of firemen and non-firemen alike at fires. Chief Tony Bycczek has requested no personnel get on the fire truck after the truck has once left the firehouse. Also all firemen and non-firemen are reminded by Bycczek, that according to Article 6, Section 82, page 6 of the New York State Vehicle and Traffic law riding closer than 500 feet behind the truck is punishable by imprisonment or fine or both. This has been done repeatedly and a general warning is being issued at this time with the understanding that continual performance will be taken up with the authorities.

his wife, Mrs. Gertrude Kessel, 42, and their daughter, Miss Ruth G. Kessel, 22, all of Bethesda, Md.

Their trip to Europe had been arranged by Kessel's brother, Eric Kessel, of Smithtown, who operates a travel agency in Bayshore.

Eric Kessel said tonight his brother and his brother's wife and daughter went to Europe by boat to visit Mrs. Kessel's parents who live in the Soviet Zone of Germany.

The parents were able to get a permit to leave the Red Zone for a visit in the American Zone, he said.

Albert Kessel and his family had planned to return home last week but extended their stay at the last minute, Eric Kessel said.

Eric said his brother had been serving as chief technician with a government-sponsored cancer research in Bethesda, Md.

Miss Ruth Kessel had been working as secretary in Bethesda.

Albert Kessel's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Otto Kessel, live in Smithtown.

Besides the Brassloffs and Kessels, victims listed as Americans are:

William Janowsky, his wife Freda, and their infant son Wilfred, all of Bennington, Vt.; Jacob W. Weil, 47, of Tampa, Fla.; Irving Rosenberg, 50, an American living in Brussels, and U. S. Airman 2nd Class Herbert J. Wile, hometown unlisted.

A Mr. Rodriguez, address unknown, who boarded the plane at Salzburg, was listed as probably American.

The other dead were Belgian, British, Austrian, Venezuelan, Swedish, German and Dutch.

Approximately 18,000 people marched in the first inaugural parade of Franklin Delano Roosevelt.

CaliforniaElection

Keating said. "It should be proof that we are going to take a beating next year unless we go out and work and do something."

Keating said it may be necessary for President Eisenhower to take an active part in next year's congressional campaigning if the Republicans hope to retain their narrow margin of control in the House.

The House lineup now is 218 Republicans, 214 Democrats, 1 Independent and 2 vacancies, both previously held by Republicans. The 218 is a bare majority of the House membership of 435.

Keating noted that in 1954 the Republicans will be ducking a tradition that the party in control of the White House loses seats in a non-presidential election year.

Another special election is slated in New Jersey next month to fill the House vacancy caused by the resignation of Clifford Case, Republican.

Even optimistic Democrats aren't making advance claims in this one, but after what happened in Wisconsin they haven't given up hope.

Come to school ...and learn about Broccoli

LESSON NO. 1

When broccoli is pale green or has a yellowish tinge, that's middle-aged broccoli, past its finest hours. Stalks look fat and luscious but have a tough, woody texture. There's a slight hint of dead grass in the flavor. Naturally, frozen broccoli like this isn't the world's finest because it got a too-late picking — that's why you can buy it for a few pennies less.

LESSON NO. 2

When a broccoli shoot reaches its tender, young best, it has a deep rich-green complexion. That's when there's extra goodness in the small, firm, closely-bunched heads and extra tenderness in the small juicy stalks. That's when Dulany plucks them and pops them into the youth-preserving chamber of a quick-freeze. What a difference our fussiness makes in the flavor you get!

and now you know Broccoli

Serve An Omelet

Saturday noon, when the children and dad are home from school and office, is a good time to serve an omelet. But make it something special by adding about three-quarters cup finely diced ham and a teaspoon of grated onion to a regular six-egg mixture. Heat a can of savory stewed tomatoes—such a worksaver!—to go with the omelet.

his wife, Mrs. Gertrude Kessel, 42, and their daughter, Miss Ruth G. Kessel, 22, all of Bethesda, Md.

Their trip to Europe had been arranged by Kessel's brother, Eric Kessel, of Smithtown, who operates a travel agency in Bayshore.

Eric Kessel said tonight his brother and his brother's wife and daughter went to Europe by boat to visit Mrs. Kessel's parents who live in the Soviet Zone of Germany.

The parents were able to get a permit to leave the Red Zone for a visit in the American Zone, he said.

Albert Kessel and his family had planned to return home last week but extended their stay at the last minute, Eric Kessel said.

Eric said his brother had been serving as chief technician with a government-sponsored cancer research in Bethesda, Md.

Miss Ruth Kessel had been working as secretary in Bethesda.

Albert Kessel's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Otto Kessel, live in Smithtown.

Besides the Brassloffs and Kessels, victims listed as Americans are:

William Janowsky, his wife Freda, and their infant son Wilfred, all of Bennington, Vt.; Jacob W. Weil, 47, of Tampa, Fla.; Irving Rosenberg, 50, an American living in Brussels, and U. S. Airman 2nd Class Herbert J. Wile, hometown unlisted.

A Mr. Rodriguez, address unknown, who boarded the plane at Salzburg, was listed as probably American.

The other dead were Belgian, British, Austrian, Venezuelan, Swedish, German and Dutch.

Approximately 18,000 people marched in the first inaugural parade of Franklin Delano Roosevelt.

ANGRY SEA DOESN'T PLAY—High waves beat against a U. S. Navy tanker as she refuels the battleship USS Iowa somewhere on the Atlantic Ocean. The operation took place during NATO naval exercises in northern waters.

CaliforniaElection

Keating said. "It should be proof that we are going to take a beating next year unless we go out and work and do something."

Keating said it may be necessary for President Eisenhower to take an active part in next year's congressional campaigning if the Republicans hope to retain their narrow margin of control in the House.

The House lineup now is 218 Republicans, 214 Democrats, 1 Independent and 2 vacancies, both previously held by Republicans. The 218 is a bare majority of the House membership of 435.

Keating noted that in 1954 the Republicans will be ducking a tradition that the party in control of the White House loses seats in a non-presidential election year.

Another special election is slated in New Jersey next month to fill the House vacancy caused by the resignation of Clifford Case, Republican.

Even optimistic Democrats aren't making advance claims in this one, but after what happened in Wisconsin they haven't given up hope.

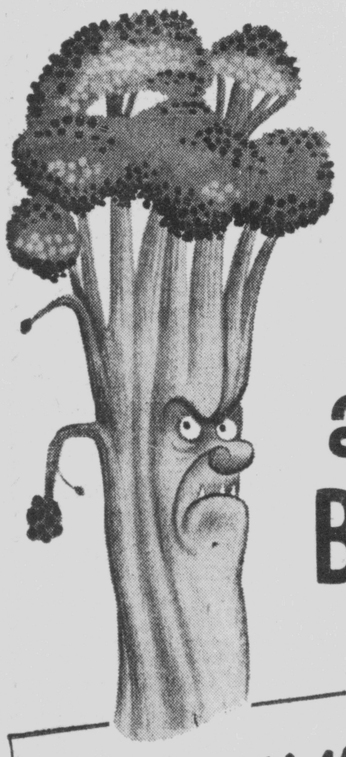
Come to school ...and learn about Broccoli



LESSON NO. 1

When broccoli is pale green or has a yellowish tinge, that's middle-aged broccoli, past its finest hours. Stalks look fat and luscious but have a tough, woody texture. There's a slight hint of dead grass in the flavor. Naturally, frozen broccoli like this isn't the world's finest because it got a too-late picking — that's why you can buy it for a few pennies less.

LESSON NO. 2

When a broccoli shoot reaches its tender, young best, it has a deep rich-green complexion. That's when there's extra goodness in the small, firm, closely-bunched heads and extra tenderness in the small juicy stalks. That's when Dulany plucks them and pops them into the youth-preserving chamber of a quick-freeze. What a difference our fussiness makes in the flavor you get!

and now you know Broccoli

Raleigh, N. C. (AP)—The next time you meet an animal, speak to him. Not only is it good barnyard etiquette to be on speaking terms with cows and horses, but it's also plain "hoss-sense" in preventing accidents. So say North Carolina State College farm safety experts. Animals, like humans, the college explains, are easily startled when they are approached suddenly. So play it safe and give them advance notice of your presence with a cheery word of greeting.

Fog Shuts Turnpike

Newark, N. J., Oct. 15 (AP)—The New Jersey Turnpike was closed down from its northern terminus to Hightstown for almost four hours today because of heavy fog. The shutdown order, imposed at 3 a. m. was lifted at 6:40 except for the stretch between Elizabeth and the northern terminus near the George Washington Bridge. A speed limit of 35 miles an hour, instead of the normal 60, was enforced on the more than 55-mile Hightstown-Elizabeth stretch. Traffic from Elizabeth north still was barred. Peasoup fog reduced visibility and brought about the closedown order on the turnpike.

Ypsilanti, Mich., Oct. 15 (AP)—A 43-year-old mother gave birth to her 15th child Monday. And yesterday she named the baby "Amen." She explained, "a large family is a blessing of the Lord." Mrs. Margaret Bow said she doesn't mean the 9 pounds 6 ounce boy will be her last. She said she expects to have several more babies. Mrs. Bow counts her blessings in eight girls and seven boys, ranging in age up to 26 years. Five daughters are married. The father, Alexander, is an $85-a-week mason's helper.

Santa Monica, Calif., Oct. 15 (AP)—Alleging cruelty, singer Ella Logan has sued movie producer Fred Finklehoffe for divorce. In her complaint, filed yesterday, she asked reasonable support, estimated her requirements at $2,000 a month, plus a clothing allowance and requested a division of community property. She said the property includes a $100,000 home, a $55,000 farm at Springtown, Pa., a foreign sports car, house furnishings and five racehorses. The couple separated last July after 11 years of marriage.

Fog Shuts Turnpike

Newark, N. J., Oct. 15 (AP)—The New Jersey Turnpike was closed down from its northern terminus to Hightstown for almost four hours today because of heavy fog. The shutdown order, imposed at 3 a. m. was lifted at 6:40 except for the stretch between Elizabeth and the northern terminus near the George Washington Bridge. A speed limit of 35 miles an hour, instead of the normal 60, was enforced on the more than 55-mile Hightstown-Elizabeth stretch. Traffic from Elizabeth north still was barred. Peasoup fog reduced visibility and brought about the closedown order on the turnpike.

Ypsilanti, Mich., Oct. 15 (AP)—A 43-year-old mother gave birth to her 15th child Monday. And yesterday she named the baby "Amen." She explained, "a large family is a blessing of the Lord." Mrs. Margaret Bow said she doesn't mean the 9 pounds 6 ounce boy will be her last. She said she expects to have several more babies. Mrs. Bow counts her blessings in eight girls and seven boys, ranging in age up to 26 years. Five daughters are married. The father, Alexander, is an $85-a-week mason's helper.

She said the property includes a $100,000 home, a $55,000 farm at Springtown, Pa., a foreign sports car, house furnishings and five racehorses. The couple separated last July after 11 years of marriage.

Reach Settlement In Herbert Death

A settlement was reached late Wednesday afternoon in the action brought in Supreme Court by Anthony J. Herbert, Sr., of Hollis, L. I., to recover damages for the death of his son, Anthony Herbert, Jr., 16, who was fatally injured on April 15, 1952, in an automobile accident on Onteora Trail near the Sunset Drive-In Theatre.

Herbert was a passenger in a car operated by Alfred J. Goeller, Jr., of Kingston. N. LeVan Haver appeared for plaintiff. This action brought against Goeller and his father, who owned the car, was also brought against Robert B. Canavan, operator of the other car involved in the accident.

Also settled was a companion action brought by Alfred J. Goeller, Sr., to recover damages for injuries to his son. In that action Howard C. St. John appeared for Goeller. Cook & Cook for Robert B. Canavan. Cashin & Ewig appeared for Alfred J. Goeller, Sr.

A third action brought by Robert B. Canavan against Goeller, in which Hubert Richter and Seymour Werbalowsky appeared for Canavan, and Cashin & Ewig for defendants, was not settled and on motion of Attorney Richter a juror was withdrawn and the case continued on the calendar. Richter told Justice Taylor he was not prepared to continue that action at this time. Canavan seeks property damage for his car.

Court then recessed until 10 o'clock today.

Fight Is Staged

Dallas, Oct. 15 (AP)—More than 1,000 teen-agers lined both sides of a suburban Oak Cliff street for blocks last night in a mammoth two-school fight. The squads of policemen arrested 11 juveniles for egg throwing and one father who remonstrated with police was jailed when a pair of brass knucks was found in his pocket. Night Police Chief M. W. Stevenson said several clubs were found when police searched autos driven by the high school students. The two schools—Sunset and Adamson—meet in a football game tonight.

Spinning Spider

The common house spider has six spinnerets, each of which is covered with tiny spinning spools, and out of these come jets of liquid silk, hardening instantaneously on exposure to air.

PLENTY OF JUICE—Holding a 22-ounce lemon which grew on her farm is Mrs Ernest Borchardt of Leavenworth, Kan. The dwarf tree has been bearing extra-large lemons for three years. She claims one lemon furnished enough juice for four pies.

Blast Effects Told to Police

The effects of heavy blasts in the vicinity of Kingston were reported to local police yesterday.

Reports of the first two blasts were between 3:30 and 4 p. m., and another, felt at least as far as Hurley was reported at 5:39 p. m.

The Callanan Road Improvement Co., of South Rondout reported blasts at about 3:30 and 4 p. m., but none later.

Local police received calls from Fair street, West Pierpont street and VanGaasbeck street. It was thought that someone was blasting rock for excavating a cellar in the latter neighborhood, but when Officers John Crespino and Harold DeGraff toured the area they found nothing to indicate any blast.

Churchill Awarded

nine-million-dollar fund established by Alfred B. Nobel, inventor of dynamite, at his death in 1896.

Churchill has wooed the beauty of the English language through much of his 78 crowded years. The fabulous world statesman, war leader, one of history's noblest orators, painter, star reporter, war correspondent and politician once summed up his approach to writing thus:

"Broadly speaking, the short words are the best, and the old words the best of all."

Fame Overshadowed Writing

Churchill's brilliance as a writer was overshadowed by his fame as a statesman. Few people now remember that a stream of books began flowing from his pen as far back as 1896.

Nor do many realize Sir Winston earned millions as an author. He may be the largest individual dollar-earner in the British literary world. His monumental World War II Memoirs alone are believed to have yielded him almost three million dollars.

He pens or types few of his written words, instead dictating into a recording machine at white-hot speed into the early morning hours. He then polishes and repolishes the typed script.

Throughout his career Churchill has fought against modern slang and distortion of the English language he loves. "We must preserve our language," he asserts.

Woman Is Missing

Lawrence McNeir of Cedarcliff, Marlborough, reported to the sheriff's office and state police that his wife, Elizabeth, 20, has been missing since Monday, Oct. 12. A Negro with light complexion, she is five feet four inches tall, weighs 125 pounds and when last seen was wearing blue shoes, blue checkered dress and no coat, McNeir said. The report stated that Mrs. McNeir was known to be devoted to her husband and two children and that McNeir feared there was a possibility of an accident or foul play.

Nebraska's first oil well was discovered near Falls City in 1939.

The thermometer was invented in the 16th century.

Decision Made for Him

Marshall, Mich., Oct. 15 (AP)—Attorney H. C. Winsor was thinking about remodeling as he stood looking out a window of his first floor office. "Should I have the office remodeled or not?" he thought. The carpenter had given him an estimate. Just then Mrs. Clara Bonnell, 55, answered the question. She drove her car through the front wall. No one was hurt, but the office needs a carpenter.

Sex Makes Difference

Hong Kong, Oct. 15 (AP)—Sex can make a big difference in a Hong Kong traffic court. "I pushed the button" said Wong Chung, charged with driving without lights. "But my lights did not go on." Magistrate Thomas Tan replied: "You are not a woman. A woman driver sometimes has cold cream on her hands and her hand can slip off the button. $10."

Campus School Pupils Have Long Weekend

New Paltz, Oct. 14 — The Campus School had a five-day wekend for a nice autum holiday. Lack of heat in the building, Ulster County Educators meeting and Columbus Day combined to make the long weekend. The Campus School building is a part of the college heating system where a new heating system is being installed with the construction of the new library. The main building is also without heat. The new furnace is scheduled to be ready for Tuesday morning and school will reopen on Tuesday unless otherwise announced.

Rally Day Is Held At Methodist Church

New Paltz, Oct. 14 — Sunday morning, Oct. 11, was rally day at the Methodist Church. This is the day when the children of the church school take charge of the service and attendance pins are awarded. Boy Scouts from several troops were also present in uniform. The teachers of the Sunday school were introduced by the Rev. Mr. Porter and the teachers introduced the children in the classes and spoke of their work. Mrs. Alvin Beatty is superintendent. Mrs. John Christensen has 26 in the cradle roll class; Mrs. Clifford Van Valkenburgh has 20 children two to five years old; Mrs. Herbert Phillips has 23 in the primary class; Miss Betty Steinhoff and William Dinneen have groups of nine and 10 in the intermediate age; Mrs. Beatty has the junior girls, 10, and Francis Hasbrouck has 14 in the junior boys group.

Children on the program were Marlene Winne, Douglas Graham, Diane Pritchet, Thomas Landau. The primary class sang two songs, I Would Follow Jesus and When Jesus Was a Little Boy. The junior choir sang Fairest Lord Jesus. The Rev. Mr. Porter gave the children's sermon, Christ and the Fisherman. The sacrament of baptism was given to Robert Reginald Brearey.

Attendance pins are awarded for perfect attendance which means illness is excused and if the child is away from his own Sunday school he brings an attendance card from the church in the community where he is visiting. The first year a pin of blue and gold with the numeral 1 is presented. Each year the numeral is changed for the number of years of good attendance. This year six-year numerals were awarded to four boys, Douglas Graham, Walton Jay, Dick and Peter Phillips. Five-year pins were given to Walter Dyer, Barbara Hasbrouck, Glenn Hasbrouck and Michael Sullivan. Four-year pins were given to Joan Bollen, Gene Haas, and Herbert Van Valkenburgh. Third-year pins were given to Nancy Bollen, Linda Dyer, Roger Graham, John Jay, Joan Markle, Bobby Phillips and Jerry Sullivan. Second-year pins were given to Linda Wilsey and Dennis Koenig. First year pins were presented to Karen Hasbrouck, Larry Winters, Thomas Landau, Joy Gill, Jerry Haas and Stewart Glenn.

New Paltz, Oct. 14—The students of the local college have fellowship groups in the various community churches. The Eendracht Club at the Reformed Church, Newman Club at St. Joseph's, The Canterbury Club at the Episcopal Church and the Wesley Fellowship at the Methodist Church. The Methodist Church Board received a request from the Jewish students at the college for permission to use the social hall for weekly meetings. Permission was granted to the students. A meeting night will be arranged. On Sunday evening the Wesley Fellowship will be host to the new group for a joint supper meeting. Any student of Jewish faith is invited to attend the regular meetings. About 40 students have indicated interest.

Cats and Witches

Because cats were associated with witches, several attempts were made to wipe them out during the Middle Ages and some authorities think outbreaks of the plague were brought about because of the resulting increase in the number of rats.

Decision Made for Him

Marshall, Mich., Oct. 15 (AP)—Attorney H. C. Winsor was thinking about remodeling as he stood looking out a window of his first floor office. "Should I have the office remodeled or not?" he thought. The carpenter had given him an estimate. Just then Mrs. Clara Bonnell, 55, answered the question. She drove her car through the front wall. No one was hurt, but the office needs a carpenter.

Sex Makes Difference

Hong Kong, Oct. 15 (AP)—Sex can make a big difference in a Hong Kong traffic court. "I pushed the button" said Wong Chung, charged with driving without lights. "But my lights did not go on." Magistrate Thomas Tan replied: "You are not a woman. A woman driver sometimes has cold cream on her hands and her hand can slip off the button. $10."

Campus School Pupils Have Long Weekend

New Paltz, Oct. 14 — The Campus School had a five-day wekend for a nice autum holiday. Lack of heat in the building, Ulster County Educators meeting and Columbus Day combined to make the long weekend. The Campus School building is a part of the college heating system where a new heating system is being installed with the construction of the new library. The main building is also without heat. The new furnace is scheduled to be ready for Tuesday morning and school will reopen on Tuesday unless otherwise announced.

Rally Day Is Held At Methodist Church

New Paltz, Oct. 14 — Sunday morning, Oct. 11, was rally day at the Methodist Church. This is the day when the children of the church school take charge of the service and attendance pins are awarded. Boy Scouts from several troops were also present in uniform. The teachers of the Sunday school were introduced by the Rev. Mr. Porter and the teachers introduced the children in the classes and spoke of their work. Mrs. Alvin Beatty is superintendent. Mrs. John Christensen has 26 in the cradle roll class; Mrs. Clifford Van Valkenburgh has 20 children two to five years old; Mrs. Herbert Phillips has 23 in the primary class; Miss Betty Steinhoff and William Dinneen have groups of nine and 10 in the intermediate age; Mrs. Beatty has the junior girls, 10, and Francis Hasbrouck has 14 in the junior boys group.

Children on the program were Marlene Winne, Douglas Graham, Diane Pritchet, Thomas Landau. The primary class sang two songs, I Would Follow Jesus and When Jesus Was a Little Boy. The junior choir sang Fairest Lord Jesus. The Rev. Mr. Porter gave the children's sermon, Christ and the Fisherman. The sacrament of baptism was given to Robert Reginald Brearey.

Attendance pins are awarded for perfect attendance which means illness is excused and if the child is away from his own Sunday school he brings an attendance card from the church in the community where he is visiting. The first year a pin of blue and gold with the numeral 1 is presented. Each year the numeral is changed for the number of years of good attendance. This year six-year numerals were awarded to four boys, Douglas Graham, Walton Jay, Dick and Peter Phillips. Five-year pins were given to Walter Dyer, Barbara Hasbrouck, Glenn Hasbrouck and Michael Sullivan. Four-year pins were given to Joan Bollen, Gene Haas, and Herbert Van Valkenburgh. Third-year pins were given to Nancy Bollen, Linda Dyer, Roger Graham, John Jay, Joan Markle, Bobby Phillips and Jerry Sullivan. Second-year pins were given to Linda Wilsey and Dennis Koenig. First year pins were presented to Karen Hasbrouck, Larry Winters, Thomas Landau, Joy Gill, Jerry Haas and Stewart Glenn.

Cats and Witches

Because cats were associated with witches, several attempts were made to wipe them out during the Middle Ages and some authorities think outbreaks of the plague were brought about because of the resulting increase in the number of rats.

Second Fire Drill Held at Onteora

The second fire drill in a week was held Tuesday at the Onteora Central School, Boiceville, with members of the Olive Fire Department present.

Twelve men were stationed at the exits and at other strategic locations. Fire Chief Albert Fox was in charge.

The fire department is working with school officials in an effort to develop the most effective fire drill program possible, it was said.

Two Recommendations

Two recommendations have been made by the department:

That two school buses be detailed to pull up from the garage to a point near the school in the event of fire in order that the small children could be kept warm, assuming that a fire should occur during the winter.

That women personnel in the office and cafeteria report to the kindergarten area to assist the teachers with the small children in that department.

Athlete Stands To Get More Ills Than String Bean

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE
(AP Science Reporter)

New York, Oct. 15 (AP)—The well-muscled athlete is a more likely candidate for heart attacks from hardened arteries than the lean, string-bean type man, Dr. D. M. Spain of New York said today.

The evidence is based upon post-mortem examinations of apparently healthy men under 45 who died suddenly from unsuspected heart disease or from accidents.

It offers clues to predicting, someday, which men are potential heart-attack victims, and should change their habits to live longer. The work is a cooperative study between the medical examiner's office of Westchester county, N. Y., and the laboratories of Beth-El Hospital, Brooklyn, and is directed by Drs. Spain, Victoria Bradess and I. J. Greenblatt.

Close Parallel

A close parallel is found between a man's type of physique and the degree of hardening of his coronary or heart arteries, Dr. Spain told the Association of Life Insurance Medical Directors.

The mesomorph type, the classical athlete who is broad-shouldered and has big muscles, showed the most advanced artery disease among men of comparable ages. Ectomorphs, men with narrow shoulders, long legs and arms, and long thin muscles, showed the least.

Men who had the most artery disease most often also showed abnormally high amounts in their blood of large molecules of fatty substances, lipoproteins, which some experts blame as a cause of artery hardening.

A blood test of this kind plus study of body type may make it possible to predict the degree of artery hardening a man has long before there are any symptoms, signs or other positive laboratory tests, Dr. Spain said.

The Westchester Heart Association is supporting the research.

on him." An appointment was made for 5 p. m.

Yesterday the commission announced it had issued subpoenas returnable today for four unidentified persons to get "clarification and amplification" of a charge and a subsequent denial that a judge profited from sale of programs at the track.

Nassau county Democratic leader Lawrence V. McKeown charged on Tuesday that a "certain Nassau county judge" reaped profits from Roosevelt raceway programs along with indicted labor leader William C. De Koning.

Named by Dewey

Judge Norman F. Lent, who was named by Gov. Thomas E. Dewey in late 1952 to fill a vacancy on the bench, acknowledged yesterday that he had an interest in a printing firm which printed Roosevelt raceway programs and in which De Koning had an interest.

Lent said in a statement, however, that he got rid of his interest in the firm just before he assumed the judgeship and soon after he found out De Koning had holdings in the company.

Lent added: "I have never at any time received any money from such (program) sales."

McKeown, who made the charge in a letter to the commission, said he was scheduled to confer today with Democratic State Chairman Richard H. Balch concerning the racing scandals and their bearing on the party's "campaign strategy."

At a meeting last night in Mineola, officials of the Criminal Courts Bar Association of Nassau County gave Judge Lent a vote of confidence, terming him "truly a credit to the legal profession and a model of judicial conduct."

Indictments May Come

The Nassau County Grand Jury worked all day yesterday and into the night, and there were reports that additional indictments would be forthcoming. However, Nassau County District Attorney Frank A. Gulotta could not be reached for comment.

In Westchester county—where the Yonkers Raceway is being probed—witnesses went in and out of District Attorney Samuel Faile's office but the DA had no comment.

It was the unsolved murder of a labor official, whose union has a closed contract with Yonkers Raceway, which touched off the investigation of New York's eight harness race tracks.

Evidence of pay kickbacks, coercion and extortion were turned up by probers into both the Yonkers and Raceway arenas.

De Koning and 12 others have been indicted on extortion charges at Roosevelt Raceway.

Gov. Dewey appointed the commission last week to turn the state's harness raceways "upside down" in an effort to ferret out all traces of racketeering.

Members of the commission are Bruce Bromley, chairman, George Trosk, and John F. Brosnan.

Tests by the Agriculture Department show that humus from green crops lasts about as long as that from straw and stalks.

Refused to Resign

Wicks refused Monday to resign his state posts at a four-hour session in Albany with Dewey. In a statement afterward he said he would, instead, submit his resignation to the Senate and would leave it up to that body to vote upon his fitness. Governor Dewey on Tuesday called a special session of the Legislature for November 17 to vote upon reapportionment and Lt. Governor Wicks' status.

Wicks' office said the "Ulster County Citizens Committee for Senator Wicks" would foot the bill for the television and radio broadcasts. No estimate was given as to the cost.

Dewey's office in New York said he had no comment on the Wicks telecast.

Ellenville Firm Is Low on Bridge Job

Shanahan Construction Company, Ellenville, was low bidder on the construction of a highway bridge in the town of Denning for which bids were opened Wednesday at the office of the board of supervisors. The bid was for $61,920.87 for the complete work and $44,650 for the steel work only.

Other bidders were:

Thomas P. Spagnolletti, $66,430 for the completed work and $50,350 for the steel work.

Fred W. Johnson, $65,990 for completed work and $48,450 for the steel work.

Ken Smith, $54,188 for steel work only.

Bids had previously been sought for the complete work but they exceeded the appropriation and the work was re-advertised with bids being sought for completed work and also an alternate bid for the steel work only, the county to complete the other portions of the work.

The bids will be studied and referred to a meeting of the board next Monday evening.

Revenue Office in Albany until Sept. 22, 1922, when he became chief of the Middletown office in a departmental reorganization. He retired July 31, 1953, giving ill health as the reason.)

The need to name others was dropped, Zelnick said, after O'Brien took Pinckney aside and said he would speak to O'Connell about the matter.

Zelnick's testimony also concerned an alleged tax fix in the case of the partnership that runs the Osborn House in Windham and a meat market in Henselville. He said he paid O'Brien $500 as his share in the payoff.

He said he explained the payoff was not more because the same persons had made a payoff the previous year, but O'Brien reported knowing nothing of the previous payoff.

Mayor Releases Statement About Dump Situation

New Paltz, Oct. 15—The following is a statement issued by Mayor Robert Reid on the dump situation in the village:

"Perhaps some of you have driven past the dump during the past two days. If so, you have noticed that the area has been cleared and covered with gravel and now presents an orderly appearance. We are in the process of planting 30 pine trees along the road. In front of the trees will be erected a wire fence between the trees and the highway. In other words, dumping in the old area will be prohibited.

About half way between the old dump and the railroad there is a road leading into the area back of the present dump. This road will be put in shape so that cars and trucks can readily enter the dumping area. The new dumping area will be behind the present one at a level of about 40' lower than the present one. Refuse will be placed in this area and as often as necessary the material will be leveled off and compressed with a heavy bulldozer. A layer of cover material will be placed over it and the refuse again will be placed on top of it. This process will be repeated as often as necessary to keep the area in satisfactory condition.

Garbage and refuse collectors will be licensed by the village so that we will have authority to compel them to cooperate with our conditions. It is expected that an area will be provided for the dumping of brush, tree stumps, etc., so that this material will not interfere with the proper care and disposal of garbage. Commercial establishments will also be licensed so that control of the area can be maintained.

There are three main conditions which make a dump objectionable:

Smell from burning, odor from decaying material, unsightliness from blowing papers and view of the refuse.

We will eliminate these by:

Prohibit burning of offensive material, compacting and covering all material and placing the dump in an area where it cannot be seen.

Serves Two Areas

It is realized that this dump serves two municipalities: namely, the village of New Paltz and the town of New Paltz. It is agreed that the great percentage of refuse comes from the village but it is also agreed that a goodly amounts comes from the town.

It has long been felt that the town should bear its appropriate share of the cost of maintenance. There have been many meetings between the village and town boards with a view of cooperating on a fairly equitable basis.

Efforts have been made without success to find an appropriate site outside the village. At a meeting of the two boards held Tuesday, Oct. 13, the boards came to a tentative agreement as to what the contribution of each body should be.

It is hoped that a contract can be entered into which will take effect Jan. 1, 1954. In the meantime, the village will bear the entire cost mainly with the idea of trying to determine what the annual cost for maintenance, coverage and supervision will amount to so that an equitable division of the cost can be arrived at.

Cooperation Asked

We sincerely hope that by following out the above-mentioned plan we will remove a condition that for many years has been a disgrace to the village.

I would like to ask that all you good folks who dispose of your refuse (either inside or outside of the village) will cooperate by follow these two requests:

Place the refuse in the designated area and do not set fire to it.

Our ordinance will probably provide penalties for those who do not comply with its provisions but I am sure we all have pride in our community and that there will be no disciplinary action needed.

Must Swear Against Any Subversive Ties

Albany, Oct. 15 (AP)—Persons seeking state jobs or promotions in state service now must swear whether they are or ever have been members of any organization deemed subversive.

The State Civil Service Department issued the order yesterday in a move to guard against security risks.

A new questionnaire for applicants lists about 35 organizations designated by the U. S. attorney general as subversive.

Among them are the Communist Party, the American Youth Congress and the Friends of the New Germany.

In addition to his statement about membership in any of the organizations, the applicant also must state whether he ever signed a designating petition for a candidate in any of the groups listed.

To remove lipstick or rouge from a washable fabric, sponge with carbon tetrachloride. Then wash in warm suds and rinse.

Three Nassau

on him." An appointment was made for 5 p. m.

Yesterday the commission announced it had issued subpoenas returnable today for four unidentified persons to get "clarification and amplification" of a charge and a subsequent denial that a judge profited from sale of programs at the track.

Nassau county Democratic leader Lawrence V. McKeown charged on Tuesday that a "certain Nassau county judge" reaped profits from Roosevelt raceway programs along with indicted labor leader William C. De Koning.

Named by Dewey

Judge Norman F. Lent, who was named by Gov. Thomas E. Dewey in late 1952 to fill a vacancy on the bench, acknowledged yesterday that he had an interest in a printing firm which printed Roosevelt raceway programs and in which De Koning had an interest.

Lent said in a statement, however, that he got rid of his interest in the firm just before he assumed the judgeship and soon after he found out De Koning had holdings in the company.

Lent added: "I have never at any time received any money from such (program) sales."

McKeown, who made the charge in a letter to the commission, said he was scheduled to confer today with Democratic State Chairman Richard H. Balch concerning the racing scandals and their bearing on the party's "campaign strategy."

At a meeting last night in Mineola, officials of the Criminal Courts Bar Association of Nassau County gave Judge Lent a vote of confidence, terming him "truly a credit to the legal profession and a model of judicial conduct."

Indictments May Come

The Nassau County Grand Jury worked all day yesterday and into the night, and there were reports that additional indictments would be forthcoming. However, Nassau County District Attorney Frank A. Gulotta could not be reached for comment.

In Westchester county—where the Yonkers Raceway is being probed—witnesses went in and out of District Attorney Samuel Faile's office but the DA had no comment.

It was the unsolved murder of a labor official, whose union has a closed contract with Yonkers Raceway, which touched off the investigation of New York's eight harness race tracks.

Two Interesting Papers Are Heard by 20th Century Club

Two interesting papers were read at the meeting this week of Twentith Century Club presided over by Mrs. R. T. Shellenberger as hostess.

Mrs. Joseph F. Deegan's paper revealed many facts about New York state, and Mrs. A. D. Monell told about unusual characters.

Mrs. Deegan traced the growth of the state from 12 shires to the present 62 counties, and revealed that it is richly endowed with material resources.

New York is an agricultural state, she reported, ranks third in minerals and second in fur trade. It has 85,000 miles of highways.

"Our state," she said, "is the birthplace of Duncan Phyfe, Robert Fulton and other notables. In it were founded the Eastman concern, dime stores and baseball."

The state's motto is Excelsior, truly, the Empire State.

Mrs. Monell in telling of unusual characters went back in her memory and told the stories of three people whose lives had made a deep impression on her.

Dear Penny,

You have asked me to tell you more about the wonderful new product I used to remove superfluous facial hair. It's simply terrific and all it takes is 30 seconds and so easy to use. You just squeeze a little of the material from the tube directly over the hair which is to be removed. The preparation itself is a thick jelly like material made from vegetable substance and is pure enough to eat. After it is applied to the face, a piece of cellophane is pressed over it, patted down and gently removed. It's really amazing to see how every hair is gone and the skin doesn't show a single trace of hair or fuzz.

Penny, this new safe way to remove facial hair is called, "Haraway Gelee." You can buy it at the United Cut Rate Pharmacy in Kingston and it only costs $1.10 and no tax. Try it and write me soon. I'm sure you'll love this marvelous product.

Famous Tenor With Committee Before Concert

Eugene Conley Displays Vocal Dynamics In Concert Opening Association Series

Eugene Conley, leading tenor of the Metropolitan Opera Association, displayed his vocal technique to an appreciative capacity audience at Kingston High School auditorium last night, opening the season for the Community Concert Association.

Mr. Conley's skill in spinning forth the softest tenor tones, or showing the powerful vibrant ones, made his performance outstanding. The ease of voice production was particularly fine, and a sure dramatic touch gave emphasis to many selections.

Beginning his program with the popular, Where'er You Walk, by Handel, Mr. Conley captured his audience immediately. His second selection, Sound an Alarm, from Judas Maccabeus, by Handel, was one of vigor and force, with vocal contrast in the soft but intense passages as against the forceful ones. This selection was greeted extremely well by the enthusiastic audience.

On Wings of Song by Mendelssohn afforded Mr. Conley the opportunity to thrill his listeners by clinging to a soft last note, a difficult feat for any but the best voice.

The two selections sung in German, by Strauss, one in a lighter vein, the other, Heimliche Aufforderung, which ended on a dramatic note, resulted in the audience calling Mr. Conley back by their applause.

Warmth and command were in the rendition of the aria from Don Giovanni, Il Mio Tesoro (To My Beloved) by Mozart. The audience demanded more, and Mr. Conley obliged with Questa Quella, from Rigoletto, in which his powerful tones and apparent enjoyment of this selection scored with his hearers. The opera group was especially well done, the aria from La Boheme, Che Gelida Manina (Thy Hand Is Frozen) spellbinding his listeners. An encore, La Reve, from Manon, displayed his excellent control of the high notes, with the same quality as those of the low. His transitions were always smooth and fluid.

Floods of Spring, by Rachmaninoff, sung with much vigor, was contrasted with To the Children, by the same composer, which was sung in a restrained and tender manner. The audience was delighted with The Garden Where the Praties Grow, arr. Liddle, in a more humorous vein, sung in the Irish dialect. His asides to the audience regarding this selection evoked some amusement.

In Beloved (based on Rubenstein's Romance) arr. Conley-Frank, Mr. Conley expressed the mood with his full, rounded tones.

The encore following this selection, Cossack Song, by Kountz, displayed the vocal ability which makes every note heard even to the Family Circle at the Metropolitan Opera House.

The two final selections, Parmi Veder le Lagrime, and La Donna e Mobile, from Rigoletto, were executed with perfect command and control. Following these, Mr. Conley sang Danny Boy to a pleased audience, showing again his skill in handling high to low notes with perfect ease. For his final encore, Mr. Conley sang the John McCormack selection, I Hear You Calling Me, which left an audience well pleased with the deft and personable Eugene Conley.

During the intermission, Mr. Conley spoke with the Freeman society editor and at the same time graciously signed several autographed photographs. In a pleasant manner, Mr. Conley explained that he, Mrs. Conley, his accompanist, Marcel Frank and Mrs. Frank, had driven to Kingston that afternoon to sing the concert here. The Conleys had spent the weekend on their farm in New Jersey. Kingston is a stop on a concert tour that began two weeks ago and will take the golden voiced tenor to Canada today, then to the west, finally south, ending with a concert in Jacksonville, Fla., November 11.

This will bring the schedule to the opening of the Metropolitan Opera House, and the beginning of another busy season 'singing "the regular repertoire, La Boheme, La Traviata, probably The Rake's Progress." Mr. Conley was relaxed as he chatted about his plans, while his accompanist and visitors commented on related musical topics.

A reception was held at Judie's for Mr. Conley following the concert, by the Board of Directors of the Community Concert Association and their guests.

Hadassah Chapter To Have Meeting

The Kingston Chapter of Hadassah will hold its next regular meeting Monday, Oct. 19, at Temple Emanuel, Abeel street at 8:30 p. m.

The cast includes Miss Rhoda Mollott, Miss Charlotte Greenwald and the Mmes. Coach House Group Reports on Little Theatre Planning

George Betts, president of the Coach House Players, reminded members at a meeting Tuesday evening of the importance of selling the associate memberships, as the drive opened Monday Oct. 5. He also announced that Sunday will be the workshop day at the Coach House, and that members who intend to go to the costume party Saturday, Oct. 31, may sign up with Rose Helen Mellert.

The players expressed their appreciation to Madeline Reis who prepared typed programs with the schedule of entertainment for the coming year, for the members.

President Betts gave a general report on the social activities of the conference which 19 of the Coach House Players attended last weekend at Cornell University, Ithaca. The Coach House had one of the greatest representations.

Report On Discussions

Individual members reported on special discussions which they attended—Sylvia Staub gave an informative talk on the subject, How To Start Children's Theatre, followed by Carolyn Gross who also attended that discussion plus a talk on TV program.

Tess Lloyd spoke on the panel discussion of entertainment for meetings, which she attended, and also the make-up field. Helen Davenport gave a resume of organization problems. It was explained that many of the difficulties that other theatre groups seem to have, the Coach House Players have not faced, since they have a systematic plan for handling them.

Impressed by Conference

Dorothy Buehring enjoyed the conference so much that she said it was a postive must for all members to attend next year. She remarked especially on the manner in which some of the speakers spoke, how much at ease and free from tension. Kay Finn reported on the manner in which some theatre groups had readings and casting for plays. Mary Becker also attended the casting and reading discussion and the children's theatre talk.

The individual reports brought home to the other members how fortunate the Coach House Players are in comparison to many other theatre groups. Many new ideas on various subjects were expressed which will help the Players in the future.

Reading Classes Scheduled

George Betts reminded the members that Dick Richards, play director, will have reading classes following the play, Angel Street, to which all members are invited and urged to attend.

Refreshments followed the meeting, served by Madeline Reis and Maureen Rice.

Two Interesting Papers Are Heard by 20th Century Club

Two interesting papers were read at the meeting this week of Twentith Century Club presided over by Mrs. R. T. Shellenberger as hostess.

Mrs. Joseph F. Deegan's paper revealed many facts about New York state, and Mrs. A. D. Monell told about unusual characters.

Mrs. Deegan traced the growth of the state from 12 shires to the present 62 counties, and revealed that it is richly endowed with material resources.

New York is an agricultural state, she reported, ranks third in minerals and second in fur trade. It has 85,000 miles of highways.

"Our state," she said, "is the birthplace of Duncan Phyfe, Robert Fulton and other notables. In it were founded the Eastman concern, dime stores and baseball."

The state's motto is Excelsior, truly, the Empire State.

Mrs. Monell in telling of unusual characters went back in her memory and told the stories of three people whose lives had made a deep impression on her.

Teen Age Barn Delights Audience With Refreshing Youthful Talent

An enthusiastic audience of more than 650 persons greeted the Teen Age Barn performers at the Kingston Municipal Auditorium last night.

The two-hour show consisted of acrobatic dances, popular songs, tap as well as interpretive dances, and musical numbers by the talented youngsters. Acting as mistress of ceremonies for the evening, Lucille, a teen-ager, introduced each act.

Johnny Carangelo, a seven-year-old contender for the Eddie Fisher crown, sang several ballads in English and Italian. He was so popular with the audience that their applause held him onstage for extra numbers.

Paul and David Jarvis, a piano accordion and trumpet duo, were also brought back for several encores.

The outstanding tap dancer was tall Vicki Lane, who imitated the dancing of Bill Robinson and Eleanor Powell, as well as displaying a potential styling of her own.

At intermission, the youngest members of the cast were hustled into waiting cars to meet the curfew by driving to their homes upstate, since the performance took place on a school night.

Leslie Henry, a five-year-old Miss, delighted the audience with her agility in acrobatic dancing; performing stunts requiring a great amount of technical control.

Marie and Lee, an accordion and guitar duo, were also very well received.

The group, representing the largest continuous amateur show on television, came from Pittsfield, Mass., Gloversville, Albany and Schenectady areas.

Tommy Sternfeld, guiding hand for his teenage charges, commented at the close of the show, "This is one of the most appreciative audiences we have ever played before. There may be 600 of you, but it sounds more like 2000."

The committee responsible for the appearance of the Teen Age Barn in Kingston was headed by Roland Post, president of the Lake Katrine Rod and Gun Club; Emerson Mayes and Charles Kelder, tickets; Frank Hornbeck and Harry Sills, program; Bob Saehloff and Craig Plough, publicity. The refreshment stand was operated by the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Rod and Gun Club.

The organization plans to have the Teen Age Barn return for another engagement in the spring.

KBA Awards Entire 17th Annual Tournament to Bowlodrome

Team Events Open Monday, Feb. 8th

The 17th annual city championship tournament will open Monday night, February 8, 1954, at Ferraro's Bowlodrome, Cornell street, members of the executive board of the Kingston Bowling Association voted Wednesday night during their regular meeting at the YMCA.

The board voted unanimously at the same time to award the entire city tournament for 1954 to the Bowlodrome.

According to present plans, the five-man shooting will get underway Monday, Feb. 8, and will be scheduled throughout Friday, Feb. 12.

Singles and doubles competition will be held Saturday and Sunday, Feb. 13 and 14, also at the Cornell street drives.

Colao Is Manager

Mannie Colao, local bowler and sponsor, has been named tournament manager by Bill Murray, the KBA president.

During last night's meeting, Colao named the following working committees to supervise the annual tournament competition:

Entries and scheduling—George Robinson, Bill Johnson and Irwin J. Thomas.

Scorers—Hy Arlensky and Dr. Saul Goldfarb.

Publicity—Charles J. Tiano and Irwin J. Thomas.

Averages—Tom Orr, Jake Chichelsky, Jack Blinder and Hy Arlensky.

Trophies—Dr. Saul Goldfarb, Tom Orr and Jack Blinder.

Prizes—George Robinson, Bill Johnson and Jake Chichelsky.

Posting scores—Jack Blinder and Jake Chichelsky.

Tournament operations — Bill Murray and Mannie Colao.

Will Call Directors

President Murray announced last night that a special meeting of the board of directors of the KBA will be summoned near the end of the month to discuss further tournament problems. Announcement will be made later.

In calling for a successful tournament last night, Tournament Manager Colao stressed the complete cooperation of the board and bowlers of the KBA to make the 17th annual play "one of the best on records."

"We had a fine entry list last year," Colao said, "and we're out to improve it this year."

The KBA board also pointed out that the deadline for filing entries into the tournament will be midnight Saturday night, Jan. 16, the fourth Saturday prior to the opening of the tournament. As last year, the date of determination of averages for the tournament shall be Jan. 1.

Must File Averages

Local league secretaries are again reminded to file a list of all averages of all bowlers with Irwin J. Thomas, KBA secretary, P. O. Box 142, Kingston, not later than Jan. 8, 1954.

During last night's meeting, the KBA executive board was informed by the association secretary that only 15 leagues to date have been sanctioned.

He listed the following unsactioned leagues:

Independent, Ferraro Major, Good Neighbor, Electrol, the three Federation Leagues, Chalet Leaders, Tavern Association, Sunset League of New Paltz, Merchants League of New Paltz, CYO Holy Name, Wonder League of New Paltz and the Ferraro Mixed League.

The secretary also announced that all alleys have been certified for the 1953-54 year with the exception of the New Paltz Alleys.

All leagues, under American Bowling Congress rules and regulations, should be sanctioned within 42 days after the start of play. Leagues bowling on alleys not certified by the KBA and ABC will not be recognized for any high score protection until such certification takes place.

Dressen Still Balks; Reese Says He Would Take Job

O'Malley Still Giving Chuck Time to Change

Brooklyn, Oct. 15 (AP)—Charlie Dressen, still insisting today he will not return as Brooklyn manager for anything less than a two-year term, may be succeeded by Dodger Captain Pee Wee Reese.

Reese, a favorite of Brooklyn President Walter O'Malley and long regarded as a possible future successor to Dressen, indicated strongly he would be receptive to taking over the Dodger reins if they were offered to him.

"I always said before that I wouldn't consider a manager's job while I still have some good playing years left," said the 34-year-old star shortstop. "But now this thing . . . I don't know . . . Things look a little different now."

Reese expressed surprise at the ousting of Dressen as Dodger manager yesterday and said he hoped Dressen would return next year.

Hopes Dressen Returns

"I never imagined anything like this would happen," he said. "I don't want to say anything right now that might be misconstrued. Charlie is a great manager and I hope he comes back next year. He did a wonderful job this year. As for myself, I will have to talk with the club before I can say anything. I certainly don't intend to contact them. They will get in touch with me if they want me."

Asked whether he was considering Reese as a possible successor to Dressen, O'Malley said:

"That's something we'll discuss in a week or so. Right now we're going to give Dressen a week to think it over. That's the agreement we made yesterday. He might change his mind. At least I hope so."

Meanwhile, Dressen seemed to be going around in circles, just about as much as the baseball public which was startled by the announcement yesterday that the two-time pennant winning managen had split with the Dodgers because of a disagreement in the length of the contract.

Compromise Rejected

Dressen, flushed with two straight National League championships, had demanded a three-year contract for $50,000 per season. O'Malley countered with an offer of a one year pact at an increase in salary from $35,000 to $42,500. Dressen attempted to compromise for a two-year contract at O'Malley's salary figures. He was turned down again.

Dressen was given a week to "think it over." He promised to give O'Malley his final answer before he leaves for his California home Monday. Besides his business troubles, Charley is greatly concerned over his wife, who is in Long Island College Hospital with an abdominal disorder. She expects to be discharged Saturday.

"I realize other clubs are signing their managers to two and three-year contracts," said O'Malley. "I am a firm disbeliever of long term contracts. The Brooklyn club has paid more managers more money for not managing than any team in major league history. I was a stockholder in the club when we paid Casey Stengel, Burleigh Grimes and Leo Durocher for not managing the Dodgers. As long as I am the head of this organization, it will never happen again."

Dressen, plainly bitter at what he considered unfair treatment, said he felt he deserved a long term contract.

"Why should I sign for anything less than a two-year term?" he asked. "All my friends tell me I'm crazy to sign a one-year contract. They point out that practically every other manager has a two or three year contract. x x x I win two straight pennants, something no other manager ever did in Brooklyn, and they want to give me one year. I'm not gonna do it."

Praises Chuck's Work

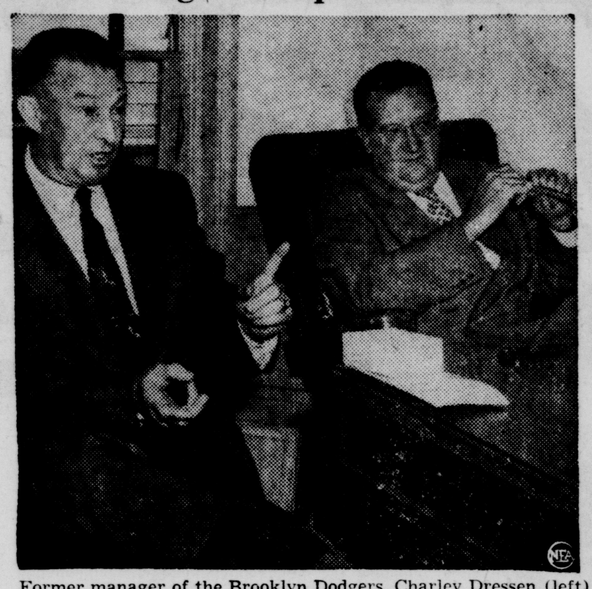
Despite their failure to see eye to eye, O'Malley had some nice things to say of Dressen.

"Charlie has done a magnificent job for Brooklyn," he said. "I certainly don't blame him for our failure to beat the Yankees in the World Series.

"If he decides to leave, I wish him good luck....

"If he decides to remain, I'll sign him this minute . . . for one year only."

Dodgers Drop Dressen



Former manager of the Brooklyn Dodgers, Charley Dressen (left), sits in the office of club president Walter O'Malley. Dressen had just been fired. He had asked for a contract calling for more than a one-year tenure as manager of the Dodgers but O'Malley would not change his contract policy. (NEA Telephoto)

Winston-Salem, N. C., Oct. 15 (AP) — Brevity Hanover, the only filly in the field of eight, romped off with the $12,505 W. N. Reynolds 2-year-old trot in two heats at the fairgrounds track yesterday. Sande Cops First Race Since 1932

New York, Oct. 15 (AP) — Jockey Earl Sande had his first winner since 1932 today, and he was as happy as when he won three Kentucky Derbies in the days when he was the toast of the American turf.

The 54-year-old rider, who began a comeback Oct. 5 because he said "I ran out of eating money," won the seventh race yesterday at Jamaica, scoring with the 12 to 1 shot Miss Weesie over the 8 to 10 favorite, Will Be There, ridden by Eddie Arcaro.

Jamaica's crowd of 18,184 gave the grey haired, partly balding little "Handy Guy" a tremendous ovation when he hustled Miss Weesie home a winner by half a length.

"I wish everyone in the world was as happy as I am right now," said Sande as he brushed away a tear and smiled to the crowd jamming around the winner's circle.

Fellow jockeys patted his back, and were as happy as Sande, who said before the day's racing that he still was nervous, although in excellent physical condition.

The Central Hudson Valley board also has announced that the date for the national written examinations will be held on Monday, Dec. 7, in Newburgh. Indianapolis, Oct. 15 (AP)—The Indianapolis Motor Speedway today upped the entry fee for the annual 500-mile auto race next May 30 from $250 to $500. The speedway didn't say so but it was rumored it wants to squeeze out some elderly race cars which just clutter up the grounds.

Sande Cops First Race Since 1932

New York, Oct. 15 (AP) — Jockey Earl Sande had his first winner since 1932 today, and he was as happy as when he won three Kentucky Derbies in the days when he was the toast of the American turf.

The 54-year-old rider, who began a comeback Oct. 5 because he said "I ran out of eating money," won the seventh race yesterday at Jamaica, scoring with the 12 to 1 shot Miss Weesie over the 8 to 10 favorite, Will Be There, ridden by Eddie Arcaro.

Jamaica's crowd of 18,184 gave the grey haired, partly balding little "Handy Guy" a tremendous ovation when he hustled Miss Weesie home a winner by half a length.

"I wish everyone in the world was as happy as I am right now," said Sande as he brushed away a tear and smiled to the crowd jamming around the winner's circle.

Fellow jockeys patted his back, and were as happy as Sande, who said before the day's racing that he still was nervous, although in excellent physical condition.

Cedaraps Blast Angels In YMCA Loop by 100 to 69

Ron Brandt's 34 High for Season

The league leading Angel's Juniors team was soundly trounced Wednesday night by last year's "B" League champions Back Cedaraps, by the score of 100 to 69. The Backs scored better than 20 points in each quarter to run up the highest score of the Autumn League to date. The fast-breaking Backs were led by Ron Brandt with 34 points, the season's highest individual point total and Huyler Van Wagenen followed with 23 points. The losing Angels team were led by their high scoring forward, Bill Fitzgerald, who scored 24 points.

The second game was not the high scoring game that the first was but was more exciting. J&E Milk Bar led for 38 minutes only to lose it at the end to Accord by 42-41. The Milk Bar led by 12 points going into the last quarter but the never-say die Accord team came through with 15 points in the last period and held the Milk Bar to two foul shots. Byron Lawrence made two foul shots with two minutes remaining to knot the score at 41-all. Tom Schatzel followed with another foul shot with 50 seconds to go to make possible the victory for Accord.

Milt Bohart AP Lineman of Week

Seattle, Oct. 15 (AP)—You might have guessed it.

The man who led the way as Washington tore down the Trojan Horse Saturday is an engineer.

Powerful Milt Bohart, Associated Press lineman of the week, is a student in mechanical engineering, a tough course rarely tackled by football players. And his grades are well above average.

Engineer Bohart played 60 minutes at right guard in Washington's 13-13 tie with the highly favored, nationally ranked Southern California Trojans. He was the star in a line that held USC to nine yards in the first half and a rushing yardage of 51—net—for the full hour.

Praised by Coaches

After that workout Bohart wasn't really nearly as breathless as when he learned of his selection as lineman of the week. After a gasp and a pause he said "Gosh! Not really?"

A 22-year-old senior, Bohart is 6 feet tall and weighs 198, but he plays like he's made of spring steel. "He's the quiet type," says Coach Johnny Cherberg, "but real tough. He was a very proper choice for the honor."

"Milt is the type of boy we need more of," added Johnny. "He's an inspirational player, but he leads by example and without fanfare."

A year ago Billy Martin of the Yankees hit .217 in the World Series. In the 1953 classic he was the big hero with a .500 batting average—12 hits in 24 trips.

Cedaraps Blast Angels In YMCA Loop by 100 to 69

Ron Brandt's 34 High for Season

The league leading Angel's Juniors team was soundly trounced Wednesday night by last year's "B" League champions Back Cedaraps, by the score of 100 to 69. The Backs scored better than 20 points in each quarter to run up the highest score of the Autumn League to date. The fast-breaking Backs were led by Ron Brandt with 34 points, the season's highest individual point total and Huyler Van Wagenen followed with 23 points. The losing Angels team were led by their high scoring forward, Bill Fitzgerald, who scored 24 points.

The second game was not the high scoring game that the first was but was more exciting. J&E Milk Bar led for 38 minutes only to lose it at the end to Accord by 42-41. The Milk Bar led by 12 points going into the last quarter but the never-say die Accord team came through with 15 points in the last period and held the Milk Bar to two foul shots. Byron Lawrence made two foul shots with two minutes remaining to knot the score at 41-all. Tom Schatzel followed with another foul shot with 50 seconds to go to make possible the victory for Accord.

Milt Bohart AP Lineman of Week

Seattle, Oct. 15 (AP)—You might have guessed it.

The man who led the way as Washington tore down the Trojan Horse Saturday is an engineer.

Powerful Milt Bohart, Associated Press lineman of the week, is a student in mechanical engineering, a tough course rarely tackled by football players. And his grades are well above average.

Engineer Bohart played 60 minutes at right guard in Washington's 13-13 tie with the highly favored, nationally ranked Southern California Trojans. He was the star in a line that held USC to nine yards in the first half and a rushing yardage of 51—net—for the full hour.

Praised by Coaches

After that workout Bohart wasn't really nearly as breathless as when he learned of his selection as lineman of the week. After a gasp and a pause he said "Gosh! Not really?"

A 22-year-old senior, Bohart is 6 feet tall and weighs 198, but he plays like he's made of spring steel. "He's the quiet type," says Coach Johnny Cherberg, "but real tough. He was a very proper choice for the honor."

"Milt is the type of boy we need more of," added Johnny. "He's an inspirational player, but he leads by example and without fanfare."

A year ago Billy Martin of the Yankees hit .217 in the World Series. In the 1953 classic he was the big hero with a .500 batting average—12 hits in 24 trips.

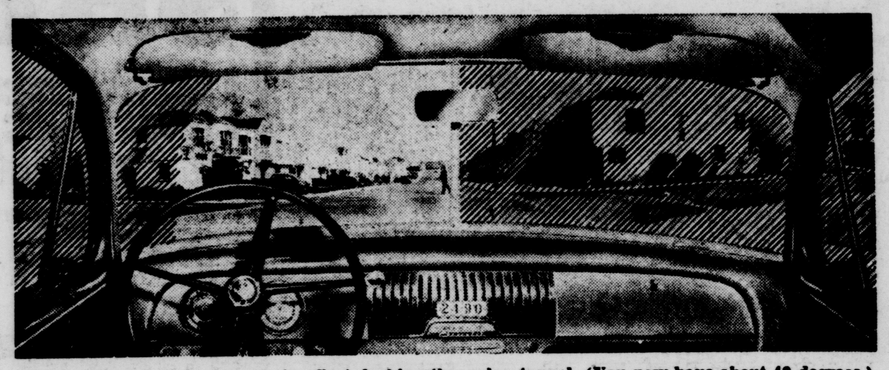
Don't Drive 'Side - Blinded'

Normal "side vision" when not moving. (Usually 180 degrees or more.)

At 30 miles per hour, "side vision" is cut in half. (You now have about 96 degrees.)



At 60 miles per hour, you are, in effect, looking through a tunnel. (You now have about 42 degrees.)

The human eye has the ability to "see" and recognize objects on either side while looking straight ahead. This is called "side vision." It is known that when you are driving, this ability rapidly decreases with speed. Pictures below are accurately scaled to test data compiled by the Claims and Safety Department of the Pacific Gas and Electric Company of San Francisco. They show how you lose "side vision" at 30 and 60 miles per hour. Have you ever had a car suddenly appear in front of you "from nowhere"? That car came from the shaded areas shown in second and third pictures below. Ever fail to see a traffic signal or sign? It was in the shaded area. Even though intersections may be unobstructed, collisions can happen because both drivers might be in "side-blind" zones where neither would notice the other. Protect yourself by looking from side to side instead of always gazing straight ahead.

High Court Begins Study of Baseball

Washington, Oct. 15—A prime question before the Supreme Court today is: Has baseball in the past 30 years become involved in Interstate Commerce within the meaning of the anti-trust laws?

If the court says no, organized baseball will go on generally making its own rules as it has since the days of Abner Doubleday.

If the court say yes, baseball is in Interstate Commerce, three cases appealed to it will be ordered to trial in Federal District Courts.

The Supreme Court took the matter under advisement yesterday after two days of hearings. A decision is not likely before spring.

Judging by the manner in which the case unfolded before the nine justices, the big bone of contention is the role of radio and television in baseball.

Ruled Sport in '22

In 1922, the Supreme Court ruled that baseball is a sport, not a business within the meaning of the anti-trust laws. It thus put baseball outside the providence of federal anti-trust jurisdiction.

Attorneys for two minor league players and a minor league club-owner contended that television has made organized baseball a commercial enterprise.

The court is not likely to rule specifically on the reserve clause, since that is not the question it is asked to decide.

But if it declares baseball in Interstate Commerce, it would place the question of the reserve clause before the district courts. Chances are that any decision there would be appealed back to the Supreme Court.

Vic Raschi of the Yankees batted in seven runs in one game against Detroit in 1953—a major league record for pitchers.

Yonkers, Oct. 15 (AP)—Ten fast trotters, including four of the top horses in training, will meet tonight in the $25,000 Gotham Trot at Yonkers Raceway. Heading the field in the mile and one half stakes is Pronto Don, top money winning trotter of all time with earnings of $265,085. Others expected to give him the most trouble are Katie Key, Florican and Lord Steward. Pronto Don, making his final eastern appearance before going west to race in California, holds two world records—2:10 2/5 for a mile and one quarter.

Bucceroni Eyes Bout With Rocky

St. Louis, Oct. 15 (AP)—Dan Bucceroni, in a rough, free-swinging bout with rapid-fire Jimmy Slade behind him, now is looking forward with keener ambition to a possible first-of-the-year fight with heavyweight champion Rocky Marciano.

Is the Philadelphia butcher boy, who had to scrap to win an unanimous 10-round decision over Slade last night at the St. Louis Arena, ready for Rocky?

"Yeah!" says Danny.

Marciano, at ringside during the nationally televised bout while waiting to referee a co-feature 10-round match, said he thinks Bucceroni probably will be his next opponent.

"I think he's a good puncher," said Marciano, "and it looks like he takes a good waliop, too."

Not Too Impressed

But beyond that, the Rock didn't seem overly impressed with Bucceroni, who now has won 44 of his 47 bouts.

His victory over Slade, while unanimous, hinged on a fourth round knockdown that had the 26-year-old New York Negro on the mat for a count of nine.

Both judges and the referee turned in cards that showed Danny won the decision wtih a combination left hook and rousing right to the head that floored Slade in the only knockdown of the fight.

Referee Dick Young and Judge Howard Hess scored it 51-49. Judge Fred Connell gave it to Bucceroni, 54-46.

Slade, normally a light-heavy, weighed in at 177, while Bucceroni, fighting below his usual weight, was 189.

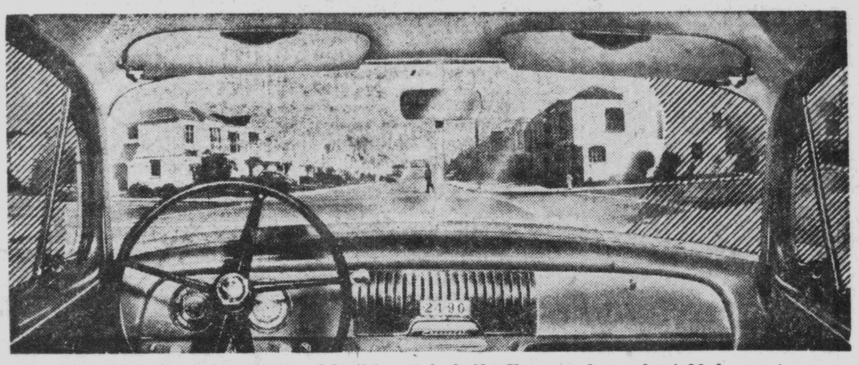
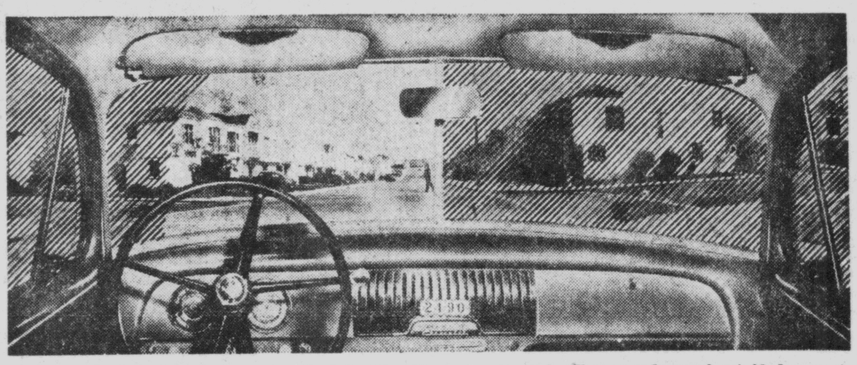
Normal "side vision" when not moving. (Usually 180 degrees or more.)



At 30 miles per hour, "side vision" is cut in half. (You now have about 96 degrees.)



At 60 miles per hour, you are, in effect, looking through a tunnel. (You now have about 42 degrees.)

The human eye has the ability to "see" and recognize objects on either side while looking straight ahead. This is called "side vision." It is known that when you are driving, this ability rapidly decreases with speed. Pictures below are accurately scaled to test data compiled by the Claims and Safety Department of the Pacific Gas and Electric Company of San Francisco. They show how you lose "side vision" at 30 and 60 miles per hour. Have you ever had a car suddenly appear in front of you "from nowhere"? That car came from the shaded areas shown in second and third pictures below. Ever fail to see a traffic signal or sign? It was in the shaded area. Even though intersections may be unobstructed, collisions can happen because both drivers might be in "side-blind" zones where neither would notice the other. Protect yourself by looking from side to side instead of always gazing straight ahead.

Gold Bullion Stolen

New York, Oct. 15 (AP)—A shipment of gold bullion valued at $50,000 was stolen early today from an Idlewild Airport cargo warehouse, police reported. The gold was consigned to the American Smelting and Refining Co., Perth Amboy, N. J., by the New York and El Salvador Mining Co. Comprising 15 bars weighing 632 pounds, the shipment was flown in from Miami last night, police said, and stored in a Riddle Airline, Inc., warehouse. It had been flown from El Salvador to Miami.

Different Fossils

Some fossils are the original, preserved bones of prehistoric animals; some are only stone casts, formed when the bone, encased in mud, rotted away; while another is the true petrified bone, where each detail of the bone structure is represented in stone.

High Court Begins Study of Baseball

Washington, Oct. 15—A prime question before the Supreme Court today is: Has baseball in the past 30 years become involved in Interstate Commerce within the meaning of the anti-trust laws?

If the court says no, organized baseball will go on generally making its own rules as it has since the days of Abner Doubleday.

If the court say yes, baseball is in Interstate Commerce, three cases appealed to it will be ordered to trial in Federal District Courts.

The Supreme Court took the matter under advisement yesterday after two days of hearings. A decision is not likely before spring.

Judging by the manner in which the case unfolded before the nine justices, the big bone of contention is the role of radio and television in baseball.

Ruled Sport in '22

In 1922, the Supreme Court ruled that baseball is a sport, not a business within the meaning of the anti-trust laws. It thus put baseball outside the providence of federal anti-trust jurisdiction.

Attorneys for two minor league players and a minor league club-owner contended that television has made organized baseball a commercial enterprise.

The court is not likely to rule specifically on the reserve clause, since that is not the question it is asked to decide.

But if it declares baseball in Interstate Commerce, it would place the question of the reserve clause before the district courts. Chances are that any decision there would be appealed back to the Supreme Court.

Vic Raschi of the Yankees batted in seven runs in one game against Detroit in 1953—a major league record for pitchers.

Tronto Don Tops Field

Yonkers, Oct. 15 (AP)—Ten fast trotters, including four of the top horses in training, will meet tonight in the $25,000 Gotham Trot at Yonkers Raceway. Heading the field in the mile and one half stakes is Pronto Don, top money winning trotter of all time with earnings of $265,085. Others expected to give him the most trouble are Katie Key, Florican and Lord Steward. Pronto Don, making his final eastern appearance before going west to race in California, holds two world records—2:10 2/5 for a mile and one quarter.

Bucceroni Eyes Bout With Rocky

St. Louis, Oct. 15 (AP)—Dan Bucceroni, in a rough, free-swinging bout with rapid-fire Jimmy Slade behind him, now is looking forward with keener ambition to a possible first-of-the-year fight with heavyweight champion Rocky Marciano.

Is the Philadelphia butcher boy, who had to scrap to win an unanimous 10-round decision over Slade last night at the St. Louis Arena, ready for Rocky?

"Yeah!" says Danny.

Marciano, at ringside during the nationally televised bout while waiting to referee a co-feature 10-round match, said he thinks Bucceroni probably will be his next opponent.

"I think he's a good puncher," said Marciano, "and it looks like he takes a good wallop, too."

Not Too Impressed

But beyond that, the Rock didn't seem overly impressed with Bucceroni, who now has won 44 of his 47 bouts.

His victory over Slade, while unanimous, hinged on a fourth round knockdown that had the 26-year-old New York Negro on the mat for a count of nine.

Both judges and the referee turned in cards that showed Danny won the decision wtih a combination left hook and rousing right to the head that floored Slade in the only knockdown of the fight.

Referee Dick Young and Judge Howard Hess scored it 51-49. Judge Fred Connell gave it to Bucceroni, 54-46.

Slade, normally a light-heavy, weighed in at 177, while Bucceroni, fighting below his usual weight, was 189.

Troop 9 Scouts Get Merit Badges

Seven members of Boy Scout Troop 9 were presented with merit badges at a Court of Honor and Parent's Night at the Evangelical Lutheran Church of the Redeemer, Wurts and Rogers streets Monday evening. The presentation was made by William E. Rylance, a member of the troop committee who spoke to the Scouts briefly on the use of signs and symbols.

A feature of the program was a talk on his experience in attending the National Jamboree in California by Robert Coale, a member of Troop 9. Coale displayed a scrapbook picture album on his trip as well as an interesting collection of "swap items."

Scoutmaster Ole Christensen welcomed the parents in the name of the troop and the pastor of the church, the Rev. David C. Gaise, commended Troop 9 on winning first place in the recent Kingston District Camporee.

Richard Gendreau, Sr., chairman for advancement, presented the following scouts for merit badges: David Brown, music, bowling and swimming; Clifford Tienken, rowing; Robert DuMond, scholarship, home repairs and swimming; Peter Cain, pioneering, camping, public health and rowing; Richard Gendreau, Jr., public health; William Craft, rowing and swimming; David Rylance, rowing.

After the scouts and parents enjoyed a motion picture on railroading, a committee of the Scout Mothers consisting of Mrs. C. C. DuMond, Jr., Mrs. Richard Gendreau and Mrs. S. M. Craft, served refreshments.

Rent Complaints Rise

New York (AP)—So many tenants have complained against landlords since the state allowed a 15 per cent boost in rents last May that this city had to buy four new automatic typewriters to answer them. The department of housing and buildings reported it now receives 700 to 800 complaints daily, compared to an average of 550 a day last year.

Three Boys Picked Up for Mehm Job

Local detectives said today their investigation during the past 10 days of thefts at Mehm's Market, 350 Broadway ended today when they picked up and questioned three boys, six, 12 and 13 years old.

The trio admitted taking $246.06 and bottles of soda from the store in 12 to 15 visits there after it was closed. The younger boy, Detective Clarence Brophy said, was helped through a rear window and when he was inside he released a bar which secured the door.

Locked Door on Leaving

The youngsters took only bottles of soda in their first visits, Brophy said, but in four or five later trips they came out with money. When leaving the store, he said, the boys used a knife to drop the bar of the door back in place when they were on the outside.

Detective Frank Sammons assisted Brophy on the case.

The older boys are to appear in childrens' court and were released in custody of their parents pending appearance.

President's Tour Begins

Defiance, Ohio, Oct. 15 (AP)—President Eisenhower began a political haymaking tour of the midwest farm belt with a social visit here today. This city of 12,000 was bursting with pride as it prepared for the President's brief appearance at a cornerstone laying ceremony at Defiance College. Eisenhower is stopping here to call on his old friend, Kevin McCann, president of the college, but from here on out, his trip is strictly business.

BERRY NICE—On Cape Cod, they're harvesting the tangy red cranberries you'll enjoy with your Thanksgiving turkey. The young lady above shows how it's done, with the traditional scoop. Right now, she's The Girl Without a Name. That's because the cranberry industry is holding a nationwide contest among housewives to get a name for her, with a string of prizes for winner and runners-up.

MULE'S HIGHLY MOBILE—Vess Hinton, a civilian worker at the Aberdeen, Md., Proving Grounds, shows the latest Army carrier, a mechanical mule. Local Educators Due at Conference Of School Boards

The 21st annual convention of the New York State School Boards Association will be held in Syracuse October 25-27. The Kingston Board of Education will be represented by President Clarence S. Rowland and Commissioners Louis Bruhn and Bertha Connelly.

One of the highlights of the three-day session will be the presentation of the association's distinguished service award by Dr. Lewis A. Wilson, state commissioner of education. Awarded annually to one school board member in New York state, the citation recognizes loyalty and notably outstanding service at the community level. The distinguished service committee consists of Chairman Charles A. Upson, Lockport; Ernest W. Robillard, Wynantskill; Clarence S. Rowland, Kingston.

The keynote address will be delivered at the opening session on Sunday afternoon by Dr. Robert W. McEwen, president of Hamilton College since 1912. A well-rounded program includes excellent speakers as well as outstanding leaders in educational and public service fields.

Panels on Subjects

Panels of professionally distinguished men will highlight the daily sessions with discussions on such pertinent subjects as Financing Public Education, How to Develop School Board Leadership in New York State, Design of School Buildings, etc.

It is estimated that at least 2,800 school board members and school officials will be present at this three-day conference which takes place in the new Onondaga County War Memorial Auditorium. Mary K. Broad, association president and member of the New Rochelle Board of Education, will officate at all the general meetings.

Three Boys Picked Up for Mehm Job

Local detectives said today their investigation during the past 10 days of thefts at Mehm's Market, 350 Broadway ended today when they picked up and questioned three boys, six, 12 and 13 years old.

The trio admitted taking $246.06 and bottles of soda from the store in 12 to 15 visits there after it was closed. The younger boy, Detective Clarence Brophy said, was helped through a rear window and when he was inside he released a bar which secured the door.

Locked Door on Leaving

The youngsters took only bottles of soda in their first visits, Brophy said, but in four or five later trips they came out with money. When leaving the store, he said, the boys used a knife to drop the bar of the door back in place when they were on the outside.

Detective Frank Sammons assisted Brophy on the case.

The older boys are to appear in childrens' court and were released in custody of their parents pending appearance.

BERRY NICE—On Cape Cod, they're harvesting the tangy red cranberries you'll enjoy with your Thanksgiving turkey. The young lady above shows how it's done, with the traditional scoop. Right now, she's The Girl Without a Name. That's because the cranberry industry is holding a nationwide contest among housewives to get a name for her, with a string of prizes for winner and runners-up.

MULE'S HIGHLY MOBILE—Vess Hinton, a civilian worker at the Aberdeen, Md., Proving Grounds, shows the latest Army carrier, a mechanical mule. It has a low silhouette and can be operated from positions on or off the vehicle.

Local Educators Due at Conference Of School Boards

The 21st annual convention of the New York State School Boards Association will be held in Syracuse October 25-27. The Kingston Board of Education will be represented by President Clarence S. Rowland and Commissioners Louis Bruhn and Bertha Connelly.

One of the highlights of the three-day session will be the presentation of the association's distinguished service award by Dr. Lewis A. Wilson, state commissioner of education. Awarded annually to one school board member in New York state, the citation recognizes loyalty and notably outstanding service at the community level. The distinguished service committee consists of Chairman Charles A. Upson, Lockport; Ernest W. Robillard, Wynantskill; Clarence S. Rowland, Kingston.

The keynote address will be delivered at the opening session on Sunday afternoon by Dr. Robert W. McEwen, president of Hamilton College since 1912. A well-rounded program includes excellent speakers as well as outstanding leaders in educational and public service fields.

Panels on Subjects

Panels of professionally distinguished men will highlight the daily sessions with discussions on such pertinent subjects as Financing Public Education, How to Develop School Board Leadership in New York State, Design of School Buildings, etc.

It is estimated that at least 2,800 school board members and school officials will be present at this three-day conference which takes place in the new Onondaga County War Memorial Auditorium. Mary K. Broad, association president and member of the New Rochelle Board of Education, will officate at all the general meetings.
